Soviet Pledges To Buy Cuba Sugar

Castro Backs Khrushchev In Dispute With Chinese

MOSCOW (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro has put Cuba behind Premier Khrushchev in his ideological dispute with Communist China following a Soviet pledge to pay more than $2.6 billion for Cuban sugar in the next six years.

Castro's support of the Kremlin was proclaimed in a joint Cuban-Soviet communique issued Wednesday night to mark the end of the Cuban leader's 10-day visit to Moscow. Castro is with Khrushchev on a hunting holiday in the Ukraine.

Castro praised Moscow's policy of peaceful coexistence, called the treaty limiting nuclear testing "a step forward toward peace and disarmament" and supported the Soviet Communist party's measures "to remove the existing differences and strengthen the unity and cohesion of the ranks of the international Communist movement."

The statement appeared to end Castro's flirtation with Red China, which takes opposite positions on all these key issues. Like Communist China, Cuba has refused to sign the Moscow-supported test-ban treaty. This has annoyed the Soviets in view of their heavy economic aid to the Caribbean nation.

While the communique gave no specific Castro pledge to sign the treaty, the Cuban government praised "the successes achieved by the Soviet Union in the struggle for ending nuclear tests and the agreement to keep nuclear weapons off vehicles in orbit."

Khrushchev renewed his promise to protect Cuba from any U.S. invasion "with all means at its disposal." The last such promise was made several weeks ago at a Kremlin ceremony marking the fifth anniversary of the Cuban revolution on New Year's Day.

The joint communique also endorsed Panama's efforts to seek revision or abrogation of the 1903 Panama Canal Treaty and denounced the "aggressive policies" of the United States.

However, Castro added his government is prepared to re-establish "good neighbor relations" with the United States on "the basis of peaceful co-existence of states with different social systems."

Cease-Fire Agreement

Kennedy Reports Malaysian Truce

BULLETIN
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno declared tonight Indonesia will continue its hostile confrontation policy against Malaysia. "Onward: No retreat!" The president said.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's Malaysia mission was crowned with success today. Indonesia and Malaysia agreed to stop the fighting along their Borneo border and to join the Philippines in a conference of foreign ministers.

After announcement of the agreement, Kennedy flew to Bangkok, Thailand, for three hours of conferences with Thai officials. He was to go on to London to give British officials a review of his talks in Asia.

The attorney general said he hoped the foreign ministers' meeting would lead to a new summit conference of the principals in the Malaysia dispute—Indonesian President Sukarno, Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia and Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal.

However, some senior diplomats in Jakarta were not overly optimistic that another summit conference would produce a final solution to the crisis resulting from federation of the former British territories in Southeast Asia and Sukarno's announced determination to smash it.

Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio, appearing at a joint news conference with Kennedy, said the cease-fire in the undeclared guerrilla war in Borneo probably could be implemented within a week. He implied that Indonesian regular army troops would prevent raiders crossing from Indonesian Borneo into the Malaysian jungles of Sabah and Sarawak states.

There was no immediate comment from the British Embassy. Britain is pledged to defend Malaysia, where it retains bases, and several thousand British and British-hired Gurkha troops are in North Borneo. Sukarno, ambitious for Indonesia to be the dominant power in Southeast Asia, contends that Malaysia is a device to preserve Britain's colonial influence.

The Philippines also has opposed Malaysia but only in the diplomatic field and without the threats of violence that came from Jakarta. Philippine opposition is based on that nation's claim to Sabah, the former territory of British North Borneo.

Kennedy said Sukarno, Macapagal and Rahman all had agreed they were ready for new talks without preconditions. But he said all three also had agreed that new three-power talks were likely to fail unless a cease-fire was implemented.

To Launch Saturn Monday

Rocket Power Leadership May Be Captured By U.S.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—World leadership in rocket power may be the prize next Monday when the United States plans to launch the Saturn 1 on its first two-stage test flight.

If all goes well, the rocket will lift a 37,700-pound satellite nearly three times heavier than any previous payload.

The satellite, mostly dead weight with no scientific value, will dwarf the largest payloads orbited by the Russians—Sputniks 7 and 8 which weighed 14,292 pounds each. The heaviest American space payload weighed 10,200 pounds.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration today disclosed details of the Saturn 1, which has been on a launching pad here since last August, waiting out months of checkout and several weeks technical delay.

The rocket stands 164 feet tall and fully fueled weighs 562 tons. The Statue of Liberty is 151 feet and weighs 227.5 tons. The first stage, 21.5 feet in diameter, has an eight-engine powerplant which will generate 1.5 million pounds of thrust about 34 million horsepower.

This is designed to lift the rocket above the earth's atmosphere. At an altitude of 48 miles, the real key to Saturn 1's power flashes to action: a second stage with six engines that burn liquid hydrogen and produce 90,000 pounds of thrust. Hydrogen delivers 40 per cent more punch than fuels like the high-grade kerosene in the first stage. It generates a tremendous kick when ignited in the vacuum of space.

The second stage will be flown for the first time Monday. Four earlier flights used only the first stage.

Experts believe a good test will give the United States a booster lead over Russia.

Soviet Balks At Johnson's A-Arms Plan

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union said today the West must scrap its proposed multilateral nuclear force before there can be any agreement to stop the spread of nuclear weapons.

The Soviet disarmament negotiator, Semyon K. Tsarapkin, told newsmen "the multilateral force has to be cleared away" before East and West can reach an agreement on President Johnson's proposal Tuesday to bar nuclear weapons from nations that don't have them. Johnson worded his proposal so that the nuclear force the United States has proposed for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would be exempt.

Tsarapkin said his government was studying Johnson's five-point arms proposal and would reply to it in due course.

West Virginia House Studies Closing Law

Watered-Down Bill
Foes' Aim; Sales
Tax Extension Ok'd

CHARLESTON (AP)—Opponents doubt they can block passage of a stronger Sunday-closing law for West Virginia, but they were expected to try to water down the bill with amendments today.

The bill was at amendment stage in the House. Expected amendment attempts included one to reverse the local-option provision.

As the bill stood, it would apply statewide unless voted out in a county election called on petition by 10 per cent of the county's registered voters. There was talk of an effort to change this so the law would not apply anywhere unless voted into effect in a county election.

Tailored to halt Sunday operation of discount stores, the pending bill is practically the same as one the 1963 Legislature passed. The State Supreme Court nullified the act six months later because final passage came after the legal end of the legislative session while the House was operating under the fakery of a stopped clock.

Awaiting action were two amendments recommended by the House Judiciary Committee. The committee wants a ban on Sunday business by trading stamp redemption stores put into the bill. Also recommended was adding sale of hunting and fishing licenses and ammunition to the long list of permissible Sunday activities.

For the fourth time since it was first passed in 1961 as a seven-month temporary measure the Legislature has put off expiration of a retail sales tax increase.

After nearly an hour of debate for the election-year record, the Senate passed 20-12 yesterday a one-year extension, through June 30, 1965, of the expiring increase from 2 to 3 per cent in the tax on sales over $1. Approved last week by the House, the bill now goes to Gov. W. W. Barron to be signed into law. He requested the extension.

After disposing of the sales tax, the Senate passed 22-10 and sent to the governor a companion bill.

Rights OK By House Seen Feb. 7

Bipartisan Group
Plans Control To Cut Off Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP)—House passage of a civil rights bill by Feb. 7 appeared a strong possibility today as the result of a revolt in the House Rules Committee.

A bipartisan majority of the committee is preparing to seize control and cut off hearings on the bill in time to get it passed before the House takes its annual Lincoln birthday recess.

The revolt is aimed at Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., leader of the Southern forces opposing the bill, who had planned to continue the hearings until the end of January.

Smith headed off any attempt to end the hearings Wednesday by hastily adjourning them for the day while his chief adversaries were absent plotting strategy. But a showdown today appeared inevitable.

Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., leader of the forces trying to speed action on the bill, said Wednesday night he is prepared to force a vote on ending the hearings at today's session. Bolling is counting on the support of the committee's Republicans in his maneuver. There are 10 Democrats and 5 Republicans on the committee but 4 of the Democrats are from the South.

Pressure on the Rules Committee to move the bill quickly is coming from both the Democratic and Republican leaders in the House. The Democrats are feeling the heat from President Johnson and the Republicans have decided they would be in a better position to hold Lincoln Day rallies if they had helped pass a civil rights bill.

Bolling has told Smith of his plan in hopes it won't be necessary to use force to cut off the hearings.

2-Way Crash Hurts Woman

New Castle Truck
Cited After Mishap

A Calcutta woman was admitted to City Hospital with a possible neck injury this morning after her auto was bumped from the rear by a truck at an exit ramp on the Freeway at W. 8th St.

Police said a 1960 sedan driven by Mrs. Mary E. Morrow, 49, was hit by a 1962 model truck operated by William D. Klingensmith, 42, of New Castle.

Police charged Klingensmith with failure to stop in the as-

Full Debate May Begin Next Week

Johnson Plan On
14% Withholding
Rate Only Change

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee aims to complete work and vote final approval today of the $11 billion tax cut bill. Debate by the full Senate would begin next week.

President Johnson has urged quick passage of the measure, saying it will help rocket the economy to record heights this year.

The committee vaulted a high hurdle Wednesday, approving unanimously the rate reductions for individuals that had been written in the bill originally passed by the House.

The senators made only one change. They adopted President Johnson's proposal to put the new 14 per cent withholding rate into effect as soon as the measure becomes law.

The House version, which contemplated enactment in 1963, would have dropped the withholding rate from 18 per cent to 15 per cent in 1964, and then to 14 per cent in 1965.

After it became obvious that reductions could not become legally effective until perhaps March, Johnson asked that the two-step drop in the withholding rate be junked and the 14 per cent rate be established immediately.

The total cut for individuals is estimated at $9 billion when the measure takes full effect.

The individual rate cuts in the bill would mean a tax cut averaging about 19 per cent for all taxpayers. It would be somewhat more than this for those in the bottom and top brackets, less through the middle ranges.

Two-thirds of the rate cuts would be effective for 1964, with the reductions made retroactive to Jan. 1, and one-third in 1965.

A new range of 14 to 70 per cent would be substituted for the 20 to 91 per cent rates of present law.

As it passed the House, the bill called for over-all tax cuts for individuals and corporations totaling $11.1 billion. Congressional experts said this now had been boosted to about $11.5 billion by a series of changes made by the Finance Committee.

House Probe Suggested In Baker Affairs

Testimony Cited On Johnson Receiving
Free Stereo Set

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. H. R. Gross has called for a separate House investigation into Robert G. Baker's business affairs in the wake of Senate testimony that President Johnson once received a free stereo set from a Baker associate.

"This scandal has so many ramifications that it would appear the House should set up a special committee to examine some of the tangents of the Baker probe," the Iowa Republican told the House Wednesday.

The Baker investigation is being conducted by the Senate Rules Committee, which plans to make public today personal financial statements filed by the former secretary to the Senate Democrats in connection with applications for bank loans.

Baker, a protégé of Johnson when the President was the Senate Democratic leader, resigned his $19,600-a-year post under fire last Oct. 7. The Senate committee is investigating whether the 35-year-old former page boy from Pickens, S.C., engaged in activities that conflicted with his official duties.

Johnson's name was injected into the investigation by Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance man who said his firm lists Baker as a vice president.

Family Of 4 Escapes

HANNOVER, Germany (AP)—A family of four made it to West Germany by crossing the frozen Upper Elbe River on the border with East Germany, customs officials said Wednesday.

Hunt Pressed For Driver In Hit-Run Case

Police pressed a search today for an unidentified man who abandoned an auto and fled on foot after crashing into a parked car in East End early Wednesday night.

The 1953 four-door sedan crashed into the rear of a parked car owned by Dean Beiling, 453 1st Ave. Beiling told police his auto was struck about 6:36 while parked at 1st Ave. and Fire Alley.

Beiling said he heard a noise, went out of his home to investigate and found the driverless car abandoned against the rear of his auto. Neighbors told police they also heard the crash and saw an unidentified man running from the scene.

Police said the auto was registered in the name of a resident of 25th St. Heights, Wellsville.

A taxi and an auto were damaged in a mishap on Main Blvd. at Ambrose Ave. Wednesday at 9:15 a. m.

A halted Yellow Cab Co. taxi driven by Ray O. Powell, 1258½ Pennsylvania Ave., was bumped by a backing 1958 sedan operated by Max Nidoff, 71, of 1212 Maine Blvd., officers said.

Powell told police Nidoff was backing from a driveway when he bumped the cab. Nidoff said he did not see the auto.

A tire on a 1960 four-door sedan was destroyed when it hit a piece of metal projecting from a curb on Market St. near 5th St. Wednesday at 5:15 p. m., police said.

Charles Appolon Jr., 34, of Angola, N. Y., told officers his tire was cut by the metal as he pulled in to a parking space.

Political Pot In Beaver To Start Boiling

Candidates Await Petition Steps To Begin On Tuesday

Pennsylvania's primary election April 28 will be the earliest in the Tri-State District and the Beaver County political pot, now simmering with seven candidates announced, will come to a boil Tuesday when the aspirants can start circulating their petitions.

No county offices are at stake but the primary ballot will settle nominations for state senators under the new one-county district, state assemblymen and Beaver's part in the three-county race for 25th District congressman.

State committeemen and committeewomen, and committee representatives from each of the 122 precincts will be elected as a prelude to party reorganization after the primary.

Pennsylvania's primary is customarily held about three weeks early during a Presidential year. Ohio's primary is May 5 and West Virginia's May 12.

The Board of Elections at Beaver said that Feb. 18 will be the last day to file a petition, and Feb. 25 the last day to

Spring Out Of Place, Snow Flurries Next

Spring's about to take it on the "lamb," spring-like weather, that is, which was out of place anyhow in the middle of winter.

The Ohio weatherman said those mild temperatures in the 50's the past couple of days will vanish with a colder trend Friday that is expected to bring showers mixed with snow flurries late in the day.

But the area is due for another mild night, at least, with a low of 38 to 45 expected. The downtown had 39 at 6 this morning and it fell to 37 within an hour.

Mother, Son Nabbed As Lottery Operators

BEAVER — Mrs. Daisy Mae Raines, 56, and son, Albert Raines, 37, of Aliquippa have been released on $2,000 bonds each for a hearing on charges of setting up and conducting a lottery.

State Police arrested the pair Wednesday at their home for alleged numbers writing. Justice of the Peace Francis Zuck released them for a hearing later after they posted property bonds.

Youngsters Advised: Don't Rush Into Marriage

Is It Really Love Or Merely Sex?

This is the last of 10 articles condensed from the new book, "Ann Landers Talks to Teen-Agers About Sex," copyrighted, 1964, by Prentice-Hall, Inc.

By ANN LANDERS
All of us have some mixed feelings about sex.

As Robert Louis Stevenson said, "We all have feelings inside that would shame hell." And if your thoughts are tinged with guilt, don't rush to the conclusion that you are hopelessly warped and evil-minded. Our society has triggered these conflicts and we must learn how to live with them.

When we reach adolescence, our feelings of ambivalence and conflict become greater. We experience drives to translate our desires into action. We know, however, that this is against the moral code, that it involves all sorts of risks, so we tell ourselves that we must keep our passions under control.

IT'S NOT EASY. Nature plays a mean trick by allowing the physical urges and strong desires to come years before we are emotionally or financially ready for marriage.

It is not possible to erase from memory the concepts we learn as children. We cannot unlearn what we have learned. But we CAN replace second-rate notions with better ones. We can remodel our attitudes and apply the remodeled attitudes to our lives.

Begin with this concept of sex and you will have an excellent start: Sex is one of God's most generous gifts.

WE ARE BORN with sex drives just as we are born with drives to satisfy hunger and thirst. God meant sex to be pleasurable, beautiful, filled with wonder and rich in reward. But it can be so only if it is used properly.

You wouldn't take a diamond and platinum brooch to try to pry open a jar of pickles with it, would you? Using sex in the wrong way adds up to the same thing.

Too often sex and love are used interchangeably. The expression, "to make love" may or may not involve tender and beautiful feelings of reciprocity. When it is only a selfish adventure in pleasure, with no concern for the other person, it is not making love.

And this is one of the reasons sex outside of marriage is usually hollow and unrewarding for both partners. Such love-making is completely self-centered. The motivation for out-of-bounds sex is to get — not to give.

SEX CANNOT BE separated from the total personality. The

On Filing Tax Return

Be Sure To Claim All Exemptions

Do you know who to claim as a dependent in filing a tax return on 1963 income? Do you understand how to claim exemptions for the fullest benefit to yourself? In this fourth of five articles you will find the answers to these and other questions that may save you money.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

You knock $600 off your income—before what's left is taxable—for each exemption you can claim in filing your 1963 income tax return.

A person filing a return gets a $600 exemption for himself if he is under 65, an additional $600 if he's 65, and $600 if he's blind. He gets the same for his wife.

The person filing a return also gets a $600 exemption for each person he can claim as a dependent but he doesn't get any extra $600 if the dependent is 65 or blind.

Who's a dependent? It varies. Your child can be claimed as a dependent if he was born or died in 1963 (but not a stillborn child) if you contributed to more than half his support in that part of the year when he was alive.

Age is a vital factor in deciding whether you can claim your own child as a dependent, or a stepchild or adopted child. The age is 19.

If he was under 19 and you provided more than half his support, you can claim him as a dependent and it wouldn't make any difference how much income he had, under or over $600.

But if he was over 19 and had $600 or more income—even though you contributed more than half his support—you couldn't claim him as a dependent unless he qualified as a full-time student.

Your over-19 child would not qualify as a full-time student if he had a regular or part-time job or went to night school or took correspondence courses.

What happens if your under-19 child, or your over-19 child who qualifies as a student dependent, had $600 or more income?

He would file his own return, claiming his own $600 exemption, and paying any tax he owed but you could take a $600 exemption for him on your return and not have to include his income in your return.

A paid servant in your house can not be claimed as a dependent. But a friend can be if he lived in your house the full year and got more than half his support from you—provided any income of his own did not amount to as much as $600 for the year.

If he had $600 or more income he'd have to file his own return, taking his own $600 exemption, and you couldn't claim him as an exemption even though you did contribute to more than half his support.

The following relatives—in addition to your child—can be claimed as dependents if the rules given below apply to them.

Your grandchild, great-grandchild, and so on; your legally adopted child or stepchild, but not the latter's descendants; your brother or sister; your parents, grandparents, or other direct ancestors, but not a foster parent; your stepfather or stepmother; your niece or nephew, meaning a son or daughter of your brother or sister; your father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law.

Death or divorce does not end those relationships. For example: you can continue to claim your father-in-law as a dependent—even though your wife died or divorced you—if he got more than half his support from you.

The relatives listed above did not have to live with you to qualify as dependents. For example: you may have been paying more than half the support of your mother or father who was living with your brother.

In short: you can claim any of them as a dependent if he did not have as much as $600 of his own taxable income and got more than half his support from you.

Right here an important point arises in deciding who's a dependent. It is the difference between taxable and non-taxable income.

Social Security benefits are non-taxable. They do not have to be reported by anyone who had to file a return because he had $600 or more taxable income from some other source.

But when you as a taxpayer want to decide whether someone you wish to claim as a dependent got more than half his support from you, you may have to consider his Social Security income to this extent:

You must figure the support you gave him against the support he got from all other sources.

For example: suppose your mother got $700 in Social Security benefits but put the money in the bank and didn't use it to live on. You could claim her as a dependent if you provided more than half her support.

But, suppose she used her $700 to help her live. You couldn't claim her as a dependent unless you contributed more than $700 to her support.

Next: Deductions for personal expenses.

Applications Given Committee Approval

Applications for membership were approved when the committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club met Monday night in the conference room of The Review.

They will be presented for vote at the Feb. 12 dinner session in the Travelers Hotel. Miss Roberta Pennybaker, chairman, presided. The group also made plans for the April dinner session at the hotel.

Others present were Mrs. Mildred Urie, Mrs. Margaret Worthing, Mrs. Robin Gillespie, Mrs. Sara Greenberg, Mrs. Edna Jones and Mrs. Ruth Russell.

ASC Reviews Beaver Work

In a year-end report, the Beaver County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office has released figures concerning the ACP in this county.

The county ASCS office said three farm ponds were constructed this past year. ACP helped farmers in the county plant 500 trees or roughly enough to cover half an acre and permanent type vegetation has been established on 107 acres on county farms. Other practices completed were:

Contour strip - cropping, 40 acres; installing tile underground drainage, 3,468 feet; pasture improvement, 25 acres and lime to permit the use of legumes and grasses for soil improvement and protection, 2,486 acres.

The Agricultural Conservation Program of the U. S. Department of Agriculture shares with farmers the cost of practices needed for conserving cropland, pasture, orchard land, farm woodlots and water.

ACP is a farmer - government partnership. In addition to purely agricultural benefits, hunters and fishermen depend heavily on agricultural resources for their recreation. Eighty per cent of wildlife available for hunting and fishing is provided by privately-owned farm and timber lands and water. The program is administered on a county basis through the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county office, located at the Federal Building Beaver.

EXERCISE AND ENJOYMENT. To provide both exercise and enjoyment for cerebral palsy-afflicted children, Harding DeMolay Chapter presented this oversized wooden horse to the CP Center in the Mary Patterson Memorial. Gregory White tries out the new device as Ron Tullis, Dave Hoffman, Bill Vale, Jack Geren and John Bickerton, chapter members, watch. Over-size so it will not tip easily, the horse was built by J. Clifford Conley, chairman of the chapter's Advisory Board. Geren is master counselor with Vale as junior counselor, Bickerton as scribe and Hoffman now is treasurer.

Sargus Selected In Committee On Capital Planning

State Sen. Edmund A. Sargus of St. Clairsville has been appointed to the Capital Planning and Improvement Advisory Board, which serves as an advisory council to the state finance department on capital planning and improvement.

The committee is comprised of three members of the Senate, three members of the House of Representatives, the director of finance, the director of public works and one member appointed by the governor.

The chief function of the board is to advise the administration, the director of finance and the Legislature on better utilization of all structures owned by the state or used by its agencies, including state colleges and universities.

The committee will meet at Columbus Friday at 10 a. m. to organize. It also may inspect some prospective projects at Columbus. Sargus said the areas of greatest need are in the field of higher education. He represents the 20th-22nd District, which includes Columbiana County.

Longest kickoff return for a touchdown in the Big Ten last season was credited to Willie Stinson of Northwestern. He went 91 yards against Indiana.

Geneva College Registration Set

BEAVER FALLS — Second-semester classes will begin next week at Geneva College. Evening school classes will start Monday and day school classes Thursday.

Registration will be held at McCartney Library.

Freshman registration is scheduled, alphabetically, from 1 p. m. to 3:15 p. m., Tuesday. Practice teachers also are to register Tuesday between 3 and 3:30 p. m.

Seniors are to register Wednesday from 8 to 9:30 a. m.; juniors 9:30 to 11 a. m., and sophomores, in alphabetical order, from 1 to 3 p. m. Transfers also will register Wednesday from 1:30 to 2:30 p. m.

Registration for campus evening classes will be held, in alphabetical order, for pre-registered students Friday Jan. 24 from 6 p. m. to 8:15 p. m., and at 8:15 p. m. for evening students who failed to pre-register.

Day school students taking an evening class are not to register Friday, Jan. 24, but with their day classes Jan. 28 or 29th. Day students will be expected to attend evening classes Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 27 and 28.

The Columbus, Ohio Country Club will be the scene of the 64th PGA golf championship on July 16-19.

Native Of Ireland, 25, Slain In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jeremiah O'Keefe, 25, who came here from Ireland a year ago, is dead as the result of an argument which police said stemmed from another man's inability to understand O'Keefe's brogue. O'Keefe was shot to death on a sidewalk Wednesday.

A witness wrote down the license number of the assailant's car, and police picked up a 31-year-old East Side man for questioning. Detectives said the man admitted shooting O'Keefe.

Hot Rivet In Washington

No one knows what the U.S. Senate will do with the Bobby Baker problem. The senators don't know either.

Ever since the secretary to the Senate Democrats resigned last Oct. 7 when charges of influence peddling got too hot for him to handle, the Baker problem has been a hot rivet. And with good reason.

Robert G. Baker was the protégé of Lyndon B. Johnson when the Texan was leading the Senate Democrats. He continued to be a Johnson protégé when the Texan became vice president of the United States.

Then, Lyndon B. Johnson became president while his protégé was being investigated by the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration. Everybody was scared silly about what might be revealed if the wheelings and dealings of Bobby Baker were looked into recklessly. The White House, itself, might be involved.

INSIGHT into the horrendous possibilities was provided in the testimony of an insurance agent who swears he gave the Johnson household a stereo outfit and sold $200,000 worth of insurance on Lyndon Johnson's life when the Texan was still a senator. The agent, Don B. Reynolds, also testified he had done advertising on a Texas television station owned by the Johnsons. And who was a vice president of his company? Bobby Baker.

In fact, the agent testified to so many wheelings and dealings in connection with the former Senate Democratic secretary that he painted a picture of the way business is done in Washington. It's who you know that turns the trick, and the Johnson protégé knew the influential people.

AND WHAT ABOUT that stereo set, roughly comparable in value to a vicuna overcoat that once figured in a high-level scandal?

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, says President Johnson had thought all this time it came from an employee and long since was given to another employee.

That hot rivet burneth everything it toucheth. Ouch!

'Dimes' Appeal

The annual March of Dimes appeals are under way in the district.

With polio brought pretty much under control through advances by medical science, the battle has shifted to birth defects and other phases of physical well-being.

Your contributions are just as badly needed as ever and will prove just as beneficial as in the past. Through continued medical research more crippling diseases can be curtailed considerably just as polio has been.

Volunteer workers again are answering the call to service. Their task can be made the easier if you respond generously to the appeal.

Learning The Ropes

Now that Ohio Democrats have disposed in their own rough-and-tumble way of the claim that astronaut John Glenn Jr. lacks the necessary experience to be an approved candidate for their party's senatorial nomination, why not dispose of the experience myth in general?

What politicians mean when they object to newcomers on the basis of inexperience is that the newcomers won't play the game. Nothing scares a politician like the prospect of an outsider who won't play according to the rules. What rules? The rules of the political game as played by professional politicians.

These are the same rules that give politics a black eye. They are the rules that cause Americans to shun politics as a dirty business and to look upon politicians who play according to the rules as masters of a black art.

What the rest of us mean when we parrot the objections of politicians to "outsiders" should be analyzed. If we mean we are afraid the newcomer would be less likely to let us twist his arm, or more likely to tell us where we can go if we try to intimidate him, we're talking out of turn.

If we mean the newcomer will have trouble learning the ropes, that's a proper observation. Of course he will have trouble. But if he is bright enough to have distinguished himself in a field other than politics, the trouble shouldn't last longer than a few months.

Two Ways To Solve A Problem

Never was anything more clearly and painfully evident than the complication that will arise when it's time to construct a second canal in Central America.

The 1963 Nuclear Test Ban Treaty that tied up the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain, along with half a hundred nations that have no nuclear capacity, would be invoked.

The treaty bars any nuclear explosion that would contaminate the atmosphere outside the atmosphere of the state under whose jurisdiction the explosion was set off. This is in addition to the treaty's absolute prohibition of atmospheric and underwater tests.

Does this mean the United States could not blast an opening in Central America to connect the Atlantic and Pacific oceans—a water-level passage to supplement the too-narrow and too-complex Panama Canal?

Certainly not.

All it means is that no signatory to the treaty can set off an explosion in the earth that would contaminate the air. Two possibilities suggest themselves.

First, the job could be done by a nation that hadn't signed the treaty. France, which tried to construct the Panama Canal and failed, comes to mind. It is on the verge of becoming a full member of the Nuclear Club anyway. Its President de Gaulle is looking for ways to revive the glory of France and digging a canal would beat playing footsie with Red China.

The other possibility is simpler—a clean atomic explosion that wouldn't contaminate the atmosphere anywhere, not even in the vicinity of the explosion.

Clean atomic bombs are possible. As nonmilitary sources of explosive power they now are imperative.

New Check Due

Fire Chief Charles Bryan's report to Council this week on the 1963 loss should shock both residential and business areas into taking stock with a safer 1964 in mind.

Because of two major blazes, last year's fire toll in terms of money jumped more than 300 per cent over the previous 12 months. Fortunately, no lives were lost.

Fire is too dreadful and too final a thing to be treated lightly. A thorough check cannot be made too often to make sure that hazards are eliminated wherever possible.

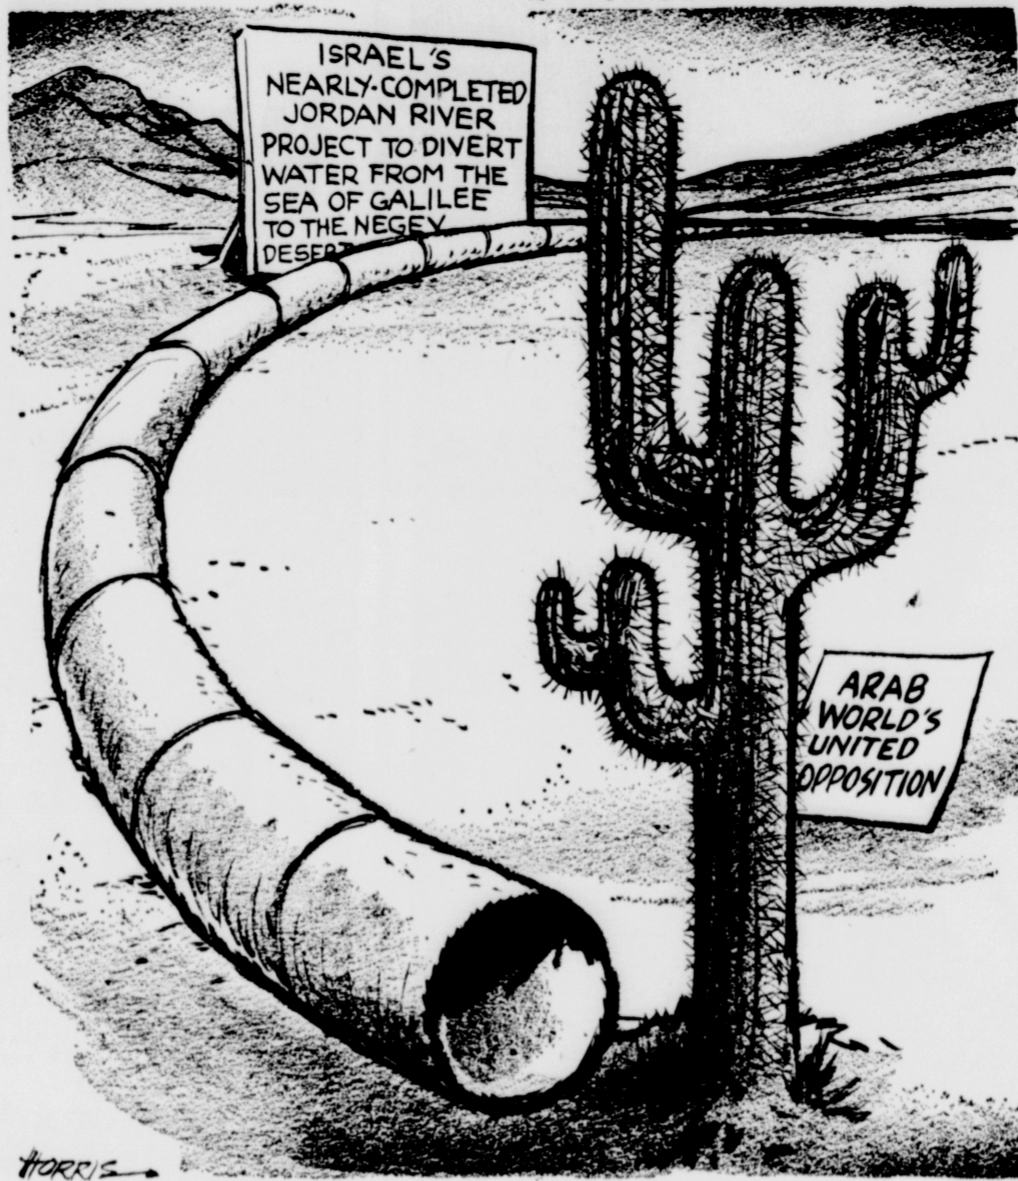

By Truman Twill

automation, for the same reason they show no interest in a U. S.-made car selling for less than $2,000. Henry Ford's ideas of mass production for mass consumption worked only when everybody was buying a first car. It was an introductory offer.

Preliminary reports have Danny Kaye winning all the television awards this time, and if it will help to get rid of the sick stuff on the gawk box I'll lend a hand to the applause. Trouble is, a talent like his comes along only a few times in a generation.

Jacqueline Kennedy's beauty would seem to have been enhanced by the tragedy she has lived through. This is an opinion, needless to say to readers of this column, colored with prejudice in favor of this most charming first lady of my lifetime.

Auto Workers Plan Global Union

By Victor Riesel

Something new is being added to labor's arsenal. Naturally, it is Detroit's red head, Walter Reuther, who is developing it.

When fully engineered next June, it will be, in effect, a global automobile workers' union.

It will be launched that month in the International Hotel in Frankfurt, Germany, at something called the "World Conference of the Automotive Dept. of the Metal International."

When Reuther, who is president of the Automotive Dept. of this world organization winds up his keynote talk, it will rocket through the corporation inner sanctums of the earth.

It obviously is the intention of Mr. Reuther, who is head of the United Auto Workers (UAW), to take on, in a showdown fight, the big international corporations.

And, judging from the bulky "Preparatory Document No. 1," the first target of Reuther and his international colleagues, who are powers in their own nations, will be General Motors (GM). This corporation has 170 plants across the world, 128 of which are in the United States.

ther's auto section is but one of four divisions. The others cover the steel and shipbuilding industries and the mechanical, foundry and electrical engineering employees of the world.

Reuther's division is most active. His United Automobile Workers Union has helped finance it.

THERE IS no lack of funds. Reuther and his executive board are authorized to use the interest on his $65 million strike fund for such international activities—and he and his brother Victor are active on far off fronts ranging from Rio to Tokyo.

Obviously Reuther puts top priority on the June world automotive conference in Frankfurt. It will take him out of the country for at least a week just at the moment he and his aides are about to go into open bargaining with the Big Three American auto firms.

Those contracts, covering hundreds of thousands of U. S. auto workers, expire on or about Aug. 31. Bargaining out in the open usually begins 60 days in advance.

Furthermore, Reuther and his people plan to be extremely active in the presidential campaign.

NOT THE LEAST of the infighting which would ordinarily keep Reuther welded to the political arena is the competition for the vice presidency on the Lyndon Johnson ticket. Reuther has some very definite ideas on that second place candidacy. June is key time in this inner battle. Yet Reuther plans to be in Frankfurt running the world automotive conference.

He and his colleagues plan to be well prepared for their global action. They have dispatched to hundreds of unions in the United States, Europe, Asia and Latin America one of the most thorough questionnaires I have ever read. Its 76 complex queries—which will take volumes to answer—prove every nuance of wages, social welfare payments, benefits and union strength.

The questionnaires, divided into three parts, are stamped with a request that they be returned to the Geneva headquarters by Feb. 20 so that they can be analyzed for the global parley.

Just how Reuther and Brenner will interweave all these unions of different skills, languages and national traits, few know. But it will be done.

Later will come similar action in the world steel, shipbuilding and engineering (electronic and electrical) industries.

Global bargaining will follow—and possibly global strikes. This is the most dramatic development in decades.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO—City Treasurer Olen H. Dawson submitted his resignation as a member of the civil service commission after serving seven years.

The East Liverpool Automobile Salesman Association held its first meeting and elected Herman Grimm president and Donald Hull secretary.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—Elmer Ralston was retained as president of the Four Square Class of the Second Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Paul Thompson and children, Martha and Paul Jr. of 8th St., Wellsville, left to spend the winter months at Tampa, Fla.

George Mitrovich of Calcutta was promoted to private first class at Camp Gruber, Okla.

A Look At Fine Print

By David Lawrence

Prosperity Figures Seen As Meaningless

For the last three days, the American people, and particularly the news correspondents in Washington, have been deluged with an avalanche of figures. This has been designed to prove that the United States from 1961 to 1963 has gone through a period of unexampled prosperity and that even better times are ahead for 1964. But the figures given are not complete and in many respects are meaningless, if not misleading.

Thus, the gross national product—the phrase supposed to describe the output of the whole economic system—is given in the President's economic report as reaching $623 billion in the year 1964. This is $259.9 billion above what it was in 1954, just a decade earlier.

More than 40 per cent of this rise is due to higher prices. If compared with the prices of goods and services in 1954 and the value of the dollar at that time, the gross national product this year would not be $623 billion. It would be $517.4 billion, which is $154.3 billion above what it was 10 years ago.

The President also points to corporate profits as having made a 44 per cent rise in the last three years. This, however, is from a low point in 1961 and is not based on any annual figures. He says that a further rise will come with the tax cut.

A STUDY of the fine print in the same big volume of statistics handed to the press this week discloses that corporate profits are projected at 4.9 per cent of the gross national product for 1964. This is less than what it has been in 11 of the 17 years since World War II.

Corporate profits went up as high as 8 per cent in those years. They were 6.2 per cent in the 1949 recession year and stood at 4.6 per cent in the economic setback of 1954, which is as high as they were in 1963 after two full years of expansion.

The sad truth is that corporate profits as a total figure are meaningless. The entire private-enterprise system, even by the president's figures, will retain in 1964 only $30.5 billion after taxes. Profit margins are rarely examined in government reports, and the fact remains that the narrowness of many of these margins prevents the investment of capital and discourages the expansion projects through which jobs can be created for the people who need them.

Much of the difficulty in creating jobs is due to psychological barriers. There can, for example, be little confidence in the economic future as long as the dollar itself is unsound. Budgets have remained unbalanced almost continuously for many years now, and the cost of living has risen as the purchasing power of the dollar has gone down.

THE ASSERTION is made by the President that a tax cut now is necessary to stimulate the economy. But the economic report in some sections gives the impression that the economy is really riding high and doesn't need a tax cut as a stimulus. These viewpoints are contradictory.

The President, incidentally, threw a scare into business in his latest economic report to Congress when he emphasized his intention to take action against business men if they raise prices, but he did not offer any hint of governmental action with respect to wage demands that could substantially increase the cost of operating businesses in America.

The President stated that he would not hesitate to draw public attention "to major actions by either business or labor that flout the public interest in non-inflationary price and wage standards."

Immediately thereafter, when he spoke of "action," he made only the following comment:

"And I shall translate into action the view:

"A. That antitrust policy must remain keenly alert to illegal price-fixing and other practices that impair competition."

"B. That we must resist new steps to legalize price-fixing where competition should prevail."

Not a word is said about "action" to curb higher wage demands or concerted steps by unions that virtually fix prices by setting industrywide wage rates.

ANOTHER STATEMENT which the President made and which is causing many worries in the business world was the announcement of his decision to ask Congress to pass a law delegating to a group of private citizens the right to impose penalties for overtime.

This would be accomplished by authorizing "higher overtime penalty rates on an industry-by-industry basis where tripartite industry committees determine that such rates could create more jobs without unduly raising costs." This is like the NRA scheme of New Deal days which was declared unconstitutional in 1935.

Such controls, moreover, could mean an increase in expenses not only in wages paid but for all the indirect benefits that are based upon the wage scales. It constitutes an interference with the free-enterprise system which is reminiscent of the wage-and-hour controls which have been imposed in wartime.

But the most disconcerting factor in the whole economic picture is the continuing deficits in the federal budget and the intention of the United States Treasury to keep on borrowing money to make up for the loss in revenue that will arise when taxes are reduced.

The Unexpected Clout

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

President Johnson, like his predecessors, has to juggle the usual and the unexpected, which is all right except when the unexpected hits him, as it did Johnson.

But even the usual can look brand new, unless you have a lively memory. For instance, when a president trots his budget message into the congressional stadium.

It's like an Army-Navy game—cheers and jeers—except that Democrats and Republicans don't don blue or gray. They just stay dressed in their old party attitudes, as they did this week when Johnson sent them his budget.

Most Democrats found it delightful. Republicans looked for holes in the budgetary line. It's like that when a Democrat is president. It's like that when a Republican is president. But then Democrats and Republicans swap sides.

Since this has been going on for years, and Johnson was in Congress 23 years, he could hardly have been dumfounded by the reaction and may even have been happy the Republicans didn't say more.

There will be much of the same as he continues to send Congress messages.

The real domestic fight, therefore, will get worse and, since 1964 is an election year, it should get noisier.

President John F. Kennedy went through the same routine in his first year in office, and the years that followed. It's not the domestic stuff that makes an old man of a president, it's the foreign stuff.

That's where a president gets clouted with the unexpected but Kennedy got a better break than Johnson, starting out.

Kennedy's first big foreign trouble was when he backed the disastrous rebel invasion of Cuba—but he had already been in office three months before that happened.

But here was Johnson, in office less than two months, up to his nose in getting his messages together for Congress, when the Panamanians blew their lid.

Johnson had already tried to overhaul the American machinery for dealing with Latin America when the riots in Panama began. It was an unhappy beginning.

Just about the time he got the Panamanians cooled off a bit, French President Charles de Gaulle let it be known that France was going to recognize Red China, which the White House promptly told him it hoped he wouldn't.

De Gaulle appears to have a compulsion to disturb the peace of American presidents.

ion bill for a corresponding one-year extension of an expiring increase from 2 to 3 per cent in the use tax. This is a sales levy on merchandise bought outside the state.

The two tax bills passed in the Senate and a bill given final approval in the House yesterday were the first final enactments sent to Barron in the 1964 legislative session. They came at the halfway point of the 30-day meeting.

The bill on which the House completed legislative action provides machinery for submitting a $200-million road bond issue to the state's voters in November.

Both houses had passed slightly different versions earlier. After concurring in minor Senate amendments yesterday, the House re-passed the bill 79-15 and sent it to Barron.

How Senators Voted On Tax Extension

CHARLESTON (AP) — Following is the 20-12 roll call by which the Senate passed extension of a retail sales tax increase Wednesday:

Democrats for (19) — Barnett, Davis, Floyd, Gainer, Hatcher, Hedrick, Holden, Jackson, Jasper, Martin, McCourt, McKown, Millar, Moreland, Parker, Porter, Sharpe, Smith and Carson.

Republican for (1) — Wolfe.

Democrats against (4) — Dahill, Kaufman, Tompos and Wylie.

Republicans against (8) — Bowers, Carrigan, Hubbard, Johnson, Knapp, Lambert, Miller and Powell.

Warden Nabs 11 Strays In Dog Roundup

Dog Warden Robert Croyle said he nabbed 11 stray dogs Wednesday night and this morning in two East End neighborhoods.

Croyle said he captured five strays this morning at East Junior High School after rounding up six last night on Michigan and Ohio Aves. in East End.

He said he captured the dogs after receiving a series of complaints from householders in the First Ward.

Croyle reported the roundup in a conference this morning with Mayor Merrill D. Hall. The mayor said he also has received "many, many complaints" about dogs roving at large.

Croyle said the owners of the dogs may reclaim them by going to the pound at the sewage plant between 5 and 6 tonight.

But he warned that reclaiming the dogs will cost each owner a minimum of $3. The city ordinance sets a fee of $2 for the warden for capturing and impounding a dog, plus $1 a day for the animal's board, he said.

In addition, owners of the dogs must show proof that they have a 1964 license for their pets, or have made application for one, the warden said. Of the 11 dogs, only one had a license and it was an expired 1963 tag, he said.

Persons who do not have 1964 tags or proof they have ordered them will be required to buy the new licenses, Croyle said. The dog license is required for any animal over three months, he pointed out.

Croyle said most of the dogs he captured are mongrels, but one is a boxer wearing a chain choker collar, but no license. It was found on Michigan Ave., Croyle related.

You can "sour" a cup of sweet milk by adding a tablespoon of lemon juice or vinegar to it. The soured milk can usually replace buttermilk in a recipe.

sured clear distance. He was arraigned a short time later before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, but the court continued the case until Tuesday to await a further report on Mrs. Morrow's injuries.

The woman was in "fair" condition with a possible cervical spine injury. Police said X-rays were to be taken.

Klingensmith told police Mrs. Morrow's car halted in front of him, started, then stopped again suddenly.

The crash damaged the entire rear of the auto, but there was no apparent damage to the truck, police said. The crash was timed at 6:38.

West Point District Mothers March Set

WEST POINT—The Mothers March will be held this week and next in the West Point, Elkton, Rock Camp and Apples Corners communities, according to Mrs. Mary Mellon of West Point, chairman. The March of Dimes campaign ends Jan. 31.

Mrs. Mellon said co-chairmen will be Mrs. Phyllis Frantz, West Point; Miss Gloria Baker, Elkton, and Mrs. Rudy Hoffman, Rock Camp and Apples Corners.

Mrs. Betty Conrad and Mrs. Sue Reynolds and the Youth Group of the West Point Church of the Nazarene will help with the West Point drive.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship of Elkton will assist Miss Baker, Mrs. Mellon said.

Family's Visit Ended

In Home At Salineville

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Newburn and children of Pittsburgh have concluded a visit with her mother, Mrs. Marie Hull, of Salineville.

Mrs. Agnes McLaughlin and George Potts of Akron spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mundy of W. Main St., who are patients at City Hospital.

Local Ensign Attends 7-Week Navy Course

Ensign Albert L. Lockhart, who recently returned from a tour of duty at Barber's Point, Hawaii and Midway Island, is attending a seven-week course for naval officers at NATTC, Memphis, Tenn. He then will go to Pensacola, Fla., for an eight-week aviation officers indoctrination school, after which he will serve with Patrol Squadron 56 at NAA at Norfolk, Va.

He joined the Navy in 1952 and recently was commissioned while serving with the Airborne Midway Island.

Mrs. Lockhart, the former Sarah Ekhardt, and daughter, Kimberli, are spending several months with her mother, Mrs. William Ekhardt of Grimm's Bridge Rd. Ensign Lockhart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Lockhart, 824 Grandview Ave.

His wife and daughter, who accompanied him on the tour of duty, will join him at Pensacola, Fla.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Here is a suggestion for mothers who want to help their children with reading words and spelling lists.

If the child is young enough to love balloons you can encourage him to learn the words by inflating a balloon, twisting the end of it and tying it in a knot. Write the words the child is trying to learn to read, or spell, on the surface of the inflated balloon with a felt ink marker. When the child learns to read and spell the word, he may keep the balloon!

More than one word may be put on each balloon. Use a few easy words that he already knows, and add a more difficult one every few days.

I use this method in my school classes and the children love it. One will be surprised how fast children learn to spell correctly.

This method also works with arithmetic and time tables.

BETTY BRADLEY.

DEAR HELOISE: When I make popcorn balls, I use a small candy sucker on which to form the balls! The children and the grownups have a handle to hold while eating the popcorn ball, and a candy treat when the popcorn is gone!

REBA BONNEAU.

DEAR HELOISE: If you will keep a thimble in your coffee canister (I keep mine inside the measurer) it may be placed over the stem in the percolator before putting the coffee in the pot... thus eliminating the stem getting grounds down inside it.

MILDRED ARENDT.

DEAR HELOISE: I removed the veil from last year's hat (it looked like it had seen better days), and laid it between two pieces of waxed paper, then pressed it with a warm iron.

The wax from the paper not only gave the veil new life, but seemed to put a thin coating on it which has kept it from wilting again.

MRS. HOWARD PHILLEO.

DEAR HELOISE: Moisture on a window pane is caused by condensation of moisture within the house coming in contact with the cold glass. Glass is notorious for heat transfer.

To correct this nuisance I have three solutions:

If you live in your own home, put on storm windows.

If the house is not your permanent home, cover the windows with clear plastic that can be bought for this purpose. (Naturally, this is good for only one season and is more-or-less temporary.)

Set an electric fan so that it blows across the window. The circulation of air will dissipate the moisture as fast as it collects, or will even prevent it from collecting in most cases.

Storm sashes are still the only real answer.

RESPECTFULLY.

DEAR HELOISE: After a continuous mix-up in single and double sheets, I found a way to identify one or the other at a glance:

I got out my sewing machine, put on the zig-zag design attachment and used colored thread to make a beautiful border design along the hems in the top and bottom of each single sheet.

When folding the sheets I now fold the stitched edges out... indicating a single sheet.

If one wanted to, they could do all their sheets this way using different colored borders to match the decor in each room. Example: pink border for double sheets if the decor is pink, blue for twin beds if the room is mostly blue, etc.

TEACHER OF HOME ECONOMICS.

DEAR HELOISE: Try cutting bacon slices into half. Lay them out on an ungreased pan and slip it into the oven along with your biscuits. When the biscuits are done so is your bacon. It is crisp and not curled. But most of all, it saves time in the mornings.

Students' Contest Numbers Given For Parents Program

Instrumentalists preparing for the ensemble and solo contest March 7 at Canton presented the program at a meeting of the ELHS Band and Orchestra Mothers Tuesday night in the band room at the Memorial Auditorium. Mrs. Charles R. Waggoner, president, presided.

The program opened with two selections, "Suite for 4 Equal Clarinets" and "Clarinet Polka," by a clarinet quartet, Amos Hamilton, Tom Morris, Rich Fisher and Hall Ball. A mixed clarinet quartet, Carol Dingey, Lynne Goodman, Lois Rodenhause and Carol Rodenhause, played "Prelude," "Prelude and Beguine" was played by a sax quartet, Todd Woods, Debby Salisbury, James E. Smith and Paul Caton.

Vicki Deshler, Carla Schneider and Martha Williams, a mixed woodwind trio, played "Les Moutons," "Girls Dixieland," "Mother Moidel and Her Noisy Nine," "Weary Blues" and "Tin Roof Blues."

The groups were introduced by Vincent Maola Jr., who also explained testing procedures used in determining students' progress.

Maola also announced that Columbiana County Music Festival will be held in Salem Feb. 21 and the band contest at the Tuslaw High School, near Canton.

During business, Mrs. Waggoner named committee chairmen for the annual dinner-dance of the band and orchestra May 2 at the Country Club.

Mrs. James Locke, chairman, and Mrs. Lawson Mason will handle decorating; Mrs. Burchfield Cartwright, program, and Mrs. Ernest Bates, social.

Reports were heard from Mrs. Willis Standley, ways and means; Mrs. George Moidel, Band Mothers Boosters; Mrs. William Boone, telephone, and Mrs. Virgil Smith, football programs. The secretary and treasurer report were presented.

Mrs. Alan Goodman gave devotions, using Scripture from Luke 4.

Refreshments were served 75, with Mrs. Bates head of the social committee.

Next meeting will be Feb. 18.

Ann Landers Offers Advice On Marriage

mature person fortunate enough to have a generally healthy attitude toward his fellow human beings probably will have a healthy sex life. The person who has difficulty adjusting to new situations, who cannot get along with neighbors, bosses or colleagues, who is tearful, suspicious, selfish, demanding, timid or domineering, probably will not.

An overly aggressive and egotistical man who exploits his friends, relatives and business associates undoubtedly will exhibit these aggressive and exploitive qualities in his sex life. The person who is considerate, unselfish and generous in his interpersonal relations in all probability will behave in the same thoughtful and considerate manner on every occasion.

THEN THERE ARE women who use sex as a weapon. They withhold themselves from a man until, in exchange for their "love," they can get something they want. Such abuse of sex is a form of prostitution. It is not giving — it's trading.

How important is sex in marriage? Pretty darned important. But it isn't everything. A marriage without sex would, of course, be sterile and empty. But couples who communicate only physically learn to their bitter disappointment that sex alone is an unreliable adhesive agent. It won't hold a marriage together.

TO THE THOUSANDS of people who write to me and ask how to distinguish between sexual attraction and the real thing I say this:

Ask yourself — how do you feel about the total person? Do you admire and respect him? Is his word good or are his promises written on flowing water and shifting sand? Do you like him as well as love him? Is he your friend? Is he willing to put your desires before his own — or do you find yourself catering to his every wish and whim?

What can you share? Do you have common interests, common goals, and are you pulling in the same direction? Do you understand that his profession or his job may draw heavily on his time and energy? Are you willing to help him in his work by being cooperative and patient?

MANY A MAN has been wrecked professionally because his wife considered his career a competing mistress. Loving means giving, and often it means giving him the moral support he needs to do his job so he can share with you feeling of achievement and self-respect.

How important is necking to your total relationship? Must you neck every time you get together, or can you spend some evenings just talking? Do you need other people around to insure an evening of fun? Or can the two of you have a stimulating and interesting time alone? Are you at ease with him — relaxed and comfortable in his presence? Or do you find yourself playing a part, straining to keep his approval, fearful that perhaps you may say the wrong thing?

EXAMINE the quality of your arguments. (If two people agree on everything, one of them is unnecessary.) Argument is healthy. It clears the air. A marriage which cannot tolerate differences in opinion is not a marriage but a dictatorship.

Arguments can be destructive, however, if the individuals attack each other instead of the issue. Time is your best ally in evaluating an individual's true character and measuring your compatibility. No one can play a part forever. The mask must fall sooner or later.

It is for this reason that I plead with the teen-agers who write to me, to WAIT. Don't rush into marriage immediately upon graduation from high school or worse yet, before.

THE ARTIFICIAL conditions under which most teen-agers date does not allow for the opportunity to observe one another under a variety of circumstances. Too many are on their best behavior and the stage on which they are performing bears little resemblance to the world in which they must live once they're married.

And now the big question: How can you tell if it is love or sex?

Let these be your guideposts: Sex is purely physical. Love is emotional, spiritual AND physical. You must touch minds as well as bodies if your relationship is to be fulfilling and meaningful.

Love is friendship that has caught fire. It must take root and grow — one day at a time. Those who indulge in sex for sheer excitement and physical pleasure get exactly what they bargained for, and nothing more. After the fleeting moments of pleasure, they are spent and empty.

THE PERFECT love experience is communication in its most complete and selfless sense. It frees us from the prison of our aloneness and makes us whole, sharing ineffably tender moments — sharing and giving.

Love can be the strongest force in all the world... Hercules unchained. I hope that all of you some day will know this most exquisite of all experiences, the moment when you give your most precious gift — yourself — to your beloved in marriage.

You will be glad you waited, and you will be ever thankful that you refused to settle for a shoddy substitute.

Wellsville Air Patrol Enrolls New Member

Tom Durbin of Wellsville was accepted as a new member at a meeting of the Wellsville Civil Air Patrol Wednesday night at the Daw Junior High School.

Two more new members are needed to reach the quota of 25. Eighteen cadets and four seniors were present. Michael Frontone of Wellsville was a guest.

Following drill, Vaughn Mc Morrow, chief warrant officer, conducted a class on the problems of flying.

A report on squadron activities the past year was sent to wing headquarters at Cincinnati.

Next meeting will be Wednesday night at 7 at the school.

School Lunch Funds Listed At $105,730

LISBON — Wade D. Bash, chief of school lunch programs for the State Department of Education, said the distribution of federal funds for school lunches and special milk programs in Columbiana County amounted to $105,730 for the year 1963. Columbiana County had a total of 33 schools with cafeteria lunch programs and these schools got $56,060, along with 53 other schools in the special milk program, which received $49,670.

The report was received by County Supt. James L. McBride.

Seeks Congress Seat WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Robert W. Dunstan, former Warren mayor, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for 11th District congressman. He filed his petition at the Lake County Board of Elections Wednesday. Dunstan, who left the mayor's post Jan. 1, seeks the seat to be vacated by Oliver Bolton, who has announced his candidacy for congressman-at-large.

withdraw. March 9 will be the deadline for registration of voters and any change in party affiliations.

Beaver County, under the new reapportionment bill, becomes a separate state senatorial district this year and will elect one senator Nov. 3. In the past, Beaver and Lawrence Counties have been represented by a single senator.

Announcing for the 47th Senatorial District were John Carl Miller of Aliquippa, Democratic incumbent since 1952, and Ernest P. Kline, a Beaver Falls radio announcer, also looking for the Democratic nomination.

The county will also select two Republican and two Democratic state assemblymen.

Announcing as 1st District assemblymen were Robert J. Hamilton of Ambridge and Burrell Cline of Aliquippa, and Charles Stone of Hopewell, the incumbent, and Ronald Lench of Beaver Falls for the 2nd District. All are Democrats.

The 1st District consists of Aliquippa and all the area east of the Ohio and Beaver Rivers, while the 2nd District is made up of the remainder of the county west of the rivers.

The congressional district consists of Beaver, Butler and Lawrence Counties, which will also elect delegates to the national nominating conventions—Republicans, two delegates and two alternates, and Democrats, six delegates and three alternates.

Rep. Frank M. Clark, Democrat, of Bessemer, announced he intends to seek another term.

The filing deadline for the primaries falls Feb. 5 at 4 p. m. Eight now are entered officially for county office.

Man Fined In Brush Fire

W. W. Koehler, 2230 Pennsylvania Ave. Ext., was fined $25 and costs of $24.50 today after Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff convicted him on a charge of failure to control a brush fire on his property Sept. 25 that later spread to adjoining land. The costs included witness fees and mileage.

Koehler was named in an affidavit signed by Robert C. McIntosh of Scio R. D., division warden of the Ohio Division of Forestry.

The defendant pleaded not guilty at arraignment Tuesday. He was represented by Atty. Donald D. Shay. Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark appeared for the prosecution.

McIntosh, first witness for the state, said the fire burned in a nearly inaccessible area until it finally was extinguished Oct. 13. He said he started his formal investigation Jan. 16, when he talked with Koehler for the first time.

McIntosh said when he visited Koehler's home the defendant took him to an area at the rear of his home and showed him a cut-over area where he had been burning piled brush.

The warden said Koehler reported he believes the fire which burned for weeks was set separately by youngsters. Koehler said he used a propane torch to ignite the fire. Later, the torch turned up missing, he told the warden, according to McIntosh's testimony.

Koehler indicated he believes some unidentified youngsters took the torch and started another fire in the same area, the warden said. He said Koehler owns 28½ acres.

Under cross-examination, the warden said Koehler told him of hearing a conversation between two unidentified children about two days after the fire. The children allegedly were discussing the fact they had set a fire with Koehler's torch, the warden said.

McIntosh also said under cross-examination that Koehler related he had cleared an area 20 to 25 feet wide around the piled brush before setting it afire.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: A certain young woman who came to work in this office about a year ago pretends to be a perfect lady. When she takes dictation from the two top bosses she drapes a sweater across her lap to cover her legs. Such false modesty is enough to make me sick at my stomach.

Several of us girls have noticed that every Friday she wears the same dress to work that she wore the day before. This has happened four Fridays in a row. It can mean only one thing — she doesn't sleep at home on Thursday nights.

Should I tell this girl that everyone is on to her, and that the dress is the tipoff? I think it would be an act of friendship since she has become the topic of conversation every Friday during coffee break.—NEW WRINKLE.

Dear Madame New: I'd hate to think every working girl who is wearing the same dress today that she wore yesterday did not sleep at home last night.

Why don't you retract your claws before you hurt somebody?

Neighbor Keeper

Dear Ann: I'm a teen-ager who is writing about an unusual problem. There is no trouble in our family. It's the problems of the family next door to us that have been wrecking our home life.

The neighbor woman's husband has been running around with another woman. She has seen them together so it is not just hearsay. This neighbor woman is over at our house sobbing to my mother every morning and we are all sick of the sight of her.

Tonight just as we were sitting down to dinner the phone rang. It was the neighbor asking my mother to come over. Dad said, "Please have your dinner first." Mom replied, "No, I will eat later." And out she went.

When she got home at 11, Dad was furious. This sort of thing has been going on for two months. Mom says we are hard-hearted. Are we? What do you say about this? — HOUSE IN DANGER.

Dear House: It is admirable to help a friend through trying times but not at the expense of one's own home.

Your mother should suggest professional counseling for this woman before she finds she needs it herself.

A Widow Writes

Dear Ann: I was stuck with the soundness of your advice in regard to attempting to fix up a widow or a divorcee with a "likely prospect." You said, "A sure way to finish a woman off permanently is to make her a project."

Well - meaning friends and relatives made me "a project" when my husband passed away six years ago. I was appalled when I learned that a close friend had telephoned at least a dozen men (two were married — but unhappily) and suggested they take me to dinner. Some of these men surely must have thought I was a party to the calls.

When I moved out of town an attractive widower whom I had known for years asked me out. That evening he told me he had wanted to date me after my husband died but so many of my friends tried to push him into it that he lost interest.

We are going to be married soon and I know now if I had not moved out of the city and gotten away from my well-meaning friends he never would have called me. — GLAD I LEFT.

Dear Glad: Thanks for the personal testimonial. Strangely enough I've had a great many letters from women who would like to trade their friends for a few like yours. The common complaint is that nobody offers to do a bloomin' thing for the widow or the divorcee.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Projects Clarified For Southern Local

Southern Local School District officials pointed out today the Board of Education is contemplating a bond issue for additional rooms at the new high school and at the Salineville Grade School.

The additional rooms at the high school would provide classroom for increasing enrollment there, while the additional rooms at Salineville would be for a consolidated eighth grade.

A Review account of a meeting of the board erroneously linked the eighth grade project with the high school.

The board will meet Feb. 3 to further consider action on the proposed issue, along with a levy renewal.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MEYERS

Fear Of Own Voice Makes Girl Shy

"Speak up, louder!" — that expression is often heard in any classroom — the first, ninth or twelfth grade. It is generally spoken by the teacher to a timid child so fearful as he speaks, that he can't blow from his lungs enough wind over his vocal cords to speak loud enough to be heard. Dr. Garry Meyers, shocked into action, the youngster may then be able to talk a bit louder, only to speak less audibly thereafter.

Writes a mother from Minnesota: "Our daughter is just nine and a very good little student, in a combination fourth and fifth grade.

"HOWEVER THE teacher wrote a note on her last report card, saying she is so very quiet. When asked to read or speak in class my daughter talks so low, everyone has difficulty hearing her. Time and time again the teacher has told her to speak louder. She is very reserved for a youngster, but I feel she should speak up.

"Is she afraid of her own voice when reading or speaking to a group? Or is she just timid when she hears herself? It annoys me because she doesn't stick up or speak up for her own rights.

"If someone displeases her or does something she dislikes, she quietly comes and whispers it to me. She is an only child, but I don't think she is a spoiled child. I am wondering if a class in dramatics would help her in overcoming this shyness and timidity.

"I HAVE A group meeting regularly at the house which she enjoys but there again I feel she doesn't speak up because of my presence."

My reply in part: I have a great deal of sympathy for your child. I am sure her quiet way of speaking is because of fears of her own voice or fears that someone might laugh at her. I wish her teacher would not keep telling her to talk louder but would stand close enough to hear her. When she talks at home do listen kindly and patiently to what she has to say. When she feels comfortable, she will speak up.

Attract other children of her age to your home and have a dinner guest occasionally. Should the guest ask her a question or engage her in a conversation, don't butt in to speak for her or tell her to speak up. It may take a long while for her to gain enough courage to speak audibly.

I DON'T BELIEVE dramatic lessons will help. She needs to have more fun with other children her age and to learn to feel more at ease in the family and with friends and school-mates.

My bulletins, "The Child Who Is Shy" and "The Young Child's Speech," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Keep In Trim

Sweets May Start A Vicious Cycle

Do you crave sweets? Do you lament your lack of will power in turning down rich desserts? Now, here's the test question: Would you like to be in control and free of the craving?

A challenge can serve to quicken and activate. Why? It puts you on your mettle. In- Ida Jean Kain stead of passively accepting a lack of will power where sweets are concerned, decide to take charge of your life.

ENTERTAIN A NEW idea with regard to sweets. You might enjoy life more without sweets! If you think this dietitian tetch, I challenge you to put the idea to the test. Enjoy means satisfaction in experiencing. You will experience positive satisfaction in the resulting slim good looks.

While you are reading this column, pause and take the time to give yourself a mind-set. You are not at the moment tempted by a sweet, so now is the time to plan what to do when confronted with a 400 calorie temptation. Implant the idea and the picture now when you are keenly aware, and this suggestion will be enforced at a needed moment. The way to bolster the will for future action is to make advance decisions. This works...it really works.

Get excited about the idea. Excitement stirs up the life forces within. Now, while you are implanting the mind-set, see yourself in a definite situation. In your mind's eye, visualize yourself getting up from the table and taking your beverage into the other room... while the family have their dessert. If you eat away from home, see yourself turning down dessert. Play safe, order the meal that does not include dessert.

RECOGNIZE THAT you will need to repeat this suggestion to your mind many times. You may wonder how just mentally seeing yourself acting right can actually help. Well, your inner mind and nervous system get the message just as clearly in an imaginary practice as in the actual doing. There is tremendous power in forethought. You can influence your will far more through this indirect action than you can by trying to force your will. Think of the will as the set of your sail, aimed in the direction of what you really want. Force of will is against the grain...try friendly persuasion through imaging yourself succeeding beautifully.

Hitch your will to a goal, and you're on the inside track. This is the magic by which you release your will for action. When you pit imaging on the side of what you want to accomplish, the scales tip and out spills a miracle!

Physicians Back County Drive On Smoking Hazard

The Columbiana County Medical Society Tuesday night at Lisbon endorsed plans of the County Public Health League for a campaign on further informing the public of the hazards of smoking.

About 25 attended the meeting at the Hotel Wick at which Robert Wright of the Bankers Life Co. of Des Moines, Iowa, and two aides spoke on the Keogh Law, a federal regulation providing for special retirement provisions for the self-employed.

Dr. Janis Lauva, new president, announced Dr. Edward Annis of Miami, president, of the American Medical Association will speak at a meeting of the Mahoning County Medical Society at Youngstown April 21, and members may attend.

Other new county officers are Dr. Edith Gilmore of East Liverpool, secretary, and Dr. Peter Cibula, president-elect.

Next meeting will be Feb. 8.

Nuclear Blasts For Excavation?

Flareup In Panama Stirs Fresh Talk Of New Canal

Fresh discussion about the possibility of the United States building a second canal in Central America has sprung up since violence flared in the Panama Canal Zone. Nuclear power would provide the cheapest excavation method. Could such power be used for this purpose under the limited nuclear test-ban treaty? How effective is the use of nuclear power for excavation? This article covers these points and other problems that would be involved in building a new canal.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — If the United States decides to build a second canal in Central America in the near future, using nuclear blasts to move the earth, it almost certainly would have to get the agreement of the Soviet Union and about 50 other nations.

But if the much-discussed new waterway paralleling the disputed Panama Canal is built a few years from now the Soviets may no longer have the power of veto under the limited nuclear test-ban treaty signed in Moscow last summer.

It all depends on what the scientists call "the state of the art" of using nuclear explosives for excavations.

This is the consensus among government officials, including legal experts, whose views have been canvassed for answers to the question:

Does the Soviet Union have the power under the test-ban treaty to block canal construction with nuclear explosives?

The question arises because the cost of a big ditch somewhere in the Central American isthmus would be far less if nuclear power were used than if conventional explosives had to be employed. Official estimates are that a nuclear excavation to provide a new link between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans could run as low as $500 million. If the job were done with dynamite and other blasting materials the estimated cost would exceed $2.5 billion.

Sometime next month the Joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee plans to hold hearings on the feasibility of using nuclear explosives for a new canal. But apart from what is technically possible at this stage in view of the problems of radioactivity there is the question of the United States commitments under the test-ban treaty.

"We would have to get Russian agreement," said Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., senior House member of the joint committee, "and they're not likely to give it willingly."

Diplomats are not certain that the Soviets would raise insuperable objections.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last August that he thought the United States might get word from the Soviets at some point "that they themselves want to use an underground explosion for a particular peaceful uses purpose."

Testifying before the same committee, Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg of the Atomic Energy Commission said that at the present time excavations made by a nuclear power would involve questions of radioactive fallout. He said "we are not ready" for canal or harbor digging, adding that a few years of development of atomic devices and experiments in excavation would be required.

The limited test-ban treaty was negotiated and signed as a measure to stop the testing of nuclear weapons in the air, outer space and under water. Underground explosions were not banned because a ban of that kind could not be policed without a kind of inspection inside the Soviet Union which the Russians would not accept.

At an early stage of the negotiations, back in 1962, the United States proposed a treaty which contained a clause to permit the explosion of nuclear devices for peaceful purposes if the countries signing the treaty unanimously agreed. The Soviet government last summer rejected that provision during work on the treaty.

The U. S. negotiators, on instruction from Washington, then got the Soviet Union and Britain to agree to include in the treaty a statement that not only weapons test explosions but also "any other nuclear explosion" in the atmosphere, outer space and under water would be prohibited.

Explosions for peaceful uses are not prohibited by the treaty if they are conducted underground. But there is one limitation on all underground blasts. They must not blow into the air radioactive materials which fall beyond the boundaries of the nation in which the explosion occurs.

A total of 107 countries has signed the treaty, including the original three — the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain. The treaty provides that amendments may be made if approved by a majority of all the signers, including the original three.

The problem in using nuclear blasts on a canal, officials said, is whether devices can be developed so radioactive fallout would not occur beyond the boundaries of the country in which the canal was dug.

Jerold W. Johnson of the AEC's radiation laboratory at Livermore, Calif., recently wrote a letter to Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., in which he said that major advances have been made in cutting down radioactivity.

The difficulties raised by the test-ban treaty and by the present status of nuclear techniques form only a part of the issues which the Johnson administration would have to deal with should it decide in favor of a second canal.

Another set of problems is political and diplomatic. In the first place the United States would have to get the consent and would hope to get the enthusiastic approval of the Central American country on whose territory the canal was to be built with the use of nuclear explosives.

As far as other treaty signers are concerned, Rusk told the Foreign Relations Committee that if the United States got to the point of massive uses of nuclear explosives for peaceful purposes "we might well want to inform other signatories of the treaty, give them the information to that effect." This would be short of asking their consent but it would make clear a U.S. desire for their understanding.

Firemen Pick 2 Lieutenants

Paul Groubert and Bob Calhoun were elected lieutenants of the Liverpool Township East volunteer fire department at a meeting Wednesday night at the Dixonville station.

Keith Downard was named liaison officer succeeding Downard.

Larry Downard was granted sick leave and a brief memorial service was held for the late Jesse Watkins, a member of the LaCroft organization. John Borsos, president, was in charge with 19 attending.

Plans for a roast beef dinner sponsoring by the auxiliary and firemen were discussed.

Virgil Reynolds, ways and means chairman, said April 15 has been picked as the tentative date. The planning committee headed by Ken Ketchum will obtain help in preparing the station.

A training session on street locations was conducted by Asst. Chief Ed Burns. Next meeting will be Feb. 5.

Club Eyes Speed Curb In Area Of Pughtown School

Cecil Jones led a program that featured group singing when the Pughtown Rural Club met Tuesday night in the Fairview Presbyterian Church.

Shields Mayhew, president, presided. Plans were approved to request the State Road Commission to erect speed limit signs in the area of the elementary school.

A contribution was authorized to the March of Dimes. Mayhew presented a past president's pin to Lester Miller.

Arnold Anderson reported the club donated three baskets of food to needy families at Christmas.

Next meeting will be Feb. 18.

4-H News

Debbie Barnhouse was elected president of the Rogerettes 4-H Club Group 2 at a meeting Tuesday night with Mrs. Donald Elliott.

Others named were Laurel Rebeck, vice president; Eileen Elliott, secretary; Hazel Marie Klink, treasurer; Charmaine Hawkins, health and safety chairman, and Penny Duncan, recreation leader.

Janet Jenkins gave a demonstration on table decorations. Frances Bezek served refreshments. Next meeting will be Feb. 10.

Officers were elected at a meeting of the Rogerettes 4-H Club Group 1, for Grades 8 through 12, Monday at the home of Mrs. Glenn Hawkins of Route 7 north of Rogers.

Named were Joan Benner, president; Vicki McElhane, vice president; Karen Hawkins, secretary; Nora Smith, treasurer; Lorna Elliott, health and safety leader; Marcia Hawkins, recreation leader, and Nancy Wilkes, reporter.

Mrs. Hawkins is the advisor and Mrs. Glenda Souders is co-advisor. Twelve attended. Miss Elliott conducted devotions and the members gave the 4-H pledge.

Janet Jenkins, a junior leader and member of the club, spoke on the junior leader program for those with three years in a club and 14 years of age.

A discussion was held on projects which are to be selected by the next meeting Feb. 10 with Mrs. Hawkins.

Project books were distributed and assignments given when the Helping Hands 4-H Club met Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glass, advisors, on the Lisbon Rd., Wellsville.

Judy Huston led devotions and Sandra Richards, vice president, conducted business. Tonya Kerns and James Huston were accepted as new members.

Plans were made to attend an advisors' workshop Jan. 30 in Lisbon. The square dancers decided on red as the color of their new outfits to be made. The group will sell candy to raise funds to sponsor 4-H'ers at camp this summer. Members selected the second Monday for monthly meetings after school.

Refreshments were served 18 by Judy Huston and Sandy Osgood.

Plans to sell Easter eggs were discussed at a meeting of the Cherokee 4-H Club Tuesday night at the home of Robert Bryan of Chester.

Demonstrations were presented by Bobby Bryan and Susan Brown.

Diane Schladen conducted the meeting and Barbara Cloggers led devotions. Debra Shroads gave the secretary's report.

Games were supervised by Terri Fox.

Comedy Set Friday Night

Westgate Students To Give Play

Rehearsing for Friday night's performance of "The Magic Touch," to be presented by the ninth graders of Westgate Junior High School, are these five members of the play cast.

Miss Rohrer portrays "Bobbette Braddock," 16-year-old tomboy whose main interest is kicking goals for her gang, the Dirty Dozen. She is the despair of her socially-minded mother and the pride and joy of her father, a sports enthusiast.

Bobby's life is content until "Frieda Fisher," portrayed by Miss Crooks, a very feminine teen-ager, captures the fancies of the Dirty Dozen and teaches them the "Texas Twitter," a version of the twist.

How "Bobbette" resolves this problem and which girl wins "Socks," portrayed by young Hasala, is the climax to the three-act comedy.

Baxter and Mary Fisher portray the mother and father of "Bobbette."

Mrs. Alfred R. Bowen is director. The play will begin at 8 at the school auditorium.

David Taylor To Get Degree At Maryland

David Kinsey Taylor, formerly of East Liverpool, will receive a Master of Science degree from the University of Maryland next Thursday.

He recently completed studies in theoretical plasma physics, with nuclear and solid state physics as minor subjects, under a National Defense Education Act Fellowship in physics awarded him in June 1961.

His thesis on rotating magnetic fields has been sent to Oak Ridge, Tenn., for further study and research.

Taylor currently is employed by the Naval Ordnance Laboratory in Washington, D.C., and is completing studies for a Ph.D. in physics.

He is married to the former Louise McIntyre of East Liverpool.

Bell Concern Output Up

New shipping procedures at Bell Research, Inc., at Chester, and improved production at other Bell Operations facilities have been reported in a 1963 summary of activities by Richard Bell, president.

The new packaging at the Chester facility assures better delivery of pyrometric cones, keys and plaques, Bell said.

Bell Minerals at West Paris, Maine, has opened a new mine of high quality feldspar with a 3 per cent boost of shipments over 1962. At Batesburg, S. C., production of kaolin is up 26 per cent over the previous year. Additional equipment to provide faster delivery has boosted production at the Bell Clay Mines at Gleason, Tenn., 15 per cent. Bell said: "We are not only interested in improving our own methods of production, we are constantly seeking to aid the ceramic industry with all the research and engineering skills at our disposal."

Chamber Dinner At Wellsville To Honor Industry

Plans for an Industry Appreciation dinner were outlined at a meeting of the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors Wednesday night at the Carnegie Library.

The dinner is being planned for the latter part of April, depending on when a speaker can be obtained.

The annual membership meeting will be Feb. 17 at 6:30 p. m. at Meade's Restaurant.

The newly-elected members to the board will be announced at this time. They will be elected by mail ballots, which will be sent each Chamber member at least 10 days in advance of the dinner.

A membership drive is continuing and during the next week, the committee will contact prospective members.

Wellsville Slates New Story Hour Library Project

A new story hour program for young children will be held at the Wellsville Carnegie Public Library, according to Miss Mary Clark, librarian.

The session, the first of its kind at Wellsville, will begin Jan. 30 and will continue for 14 weeks, ending April 30.

The sessions each Thursday from 1:30 to 2:30 will be for 5- and 6-year-old children. Mrs. William Daugherty, children's librarian, will be in charge.

Although there have been story hour programs occasionally during the summer, this is the first attempt at such a planned program for the library.

It is designed to promote interest in the library. No special registration is necessary.

District Aliens Signup Lagging

Tri-State District aliens apparently are lagging in the annual January registration at area Post Offices. The deadline is Jan. 31.

Return of the forms has been "very slow," East Liverpool Postmaster Samuel W. Brown said.

Only 53 of the forms have been returned so far, less than half of the 124 the office received in 1963, Brown said.

A total of 19 have returned their cards to the Wellsville Post Office. Others still are out, postal employees said.

At Chester, only nine registered. A rush is expected during the final week at the Chester Post Office, which ordinarily signs between 40 and 50.

Five registered at the Newell Post Office, with more expected before the end of the month. Postmaster Arnie Durham said.

Midland Postmaster Angelo Cellini reported a total of 110 have registered so far.

1963 Report Given

1,500 Enrolled In County's 4-H

LISBON — Over 1,500 members were enrolled in the Columbiana County 4-H Club program during 1963, with 2,059 projects, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture, who released his yearly report.

There were 182 adults serving as advisors for the 78 clubs. Eighty-seven per cent of the clubs have adjusted to the year-around program, holding more than 800 meetings during the year.

COUNTYWIDE clubs that offered projects to boys and girls included band, steer, dairy, tractor and junior leadership, with a total of 294 members participating in the five.

The 4-H Council now consists of 22 members of which 12 are elected. Two members from each of three districts are elected to serve a two-year term. At quarterly meetings, the council determines policies and programs.

Many opportunities and experiences are available for 4-H members. Among activities the past year, 75 members attended Junior 4-H camp, 23 the senior winter workshop, 216 advisors attended the recognition banquet, 120 participated in the grandstand show at the County Fair, 345 local club officers attended the officers training sessions, 525 members participated in district and county selection days, 750 members, advisors and parents attended the 4-H Rally; all exhibited at the County Fair and 75 attended intermediate camp.

ON THE agricultural side of the County Extension Service activity, county producers participated in the Soils and Crops Institute, farm tours and field meeting, test plots and tour of the Mahoning County Experiment Farm.

Some 1,556 soil samples from the county were tested at the Ohio State University laboratory. This is an increase of over 100 samples from the previous year. Most producers are now using soil tests to determine the lime and fertilizer needs of their various crops.

Livestock progress include brucellosis and tuberculosis testing of cattle so the county could be designated as modified-certified for brucellosis and recredited TB free until 1968. Producers learned of new procedure in the control of other livestock diseases.

MORE CATTLE were bred artificially than in any previous year, and 109 herds participated in production testing through the Dairy Herd Improvement Association. More dairy cows were on tests than in any previous year.

County beef cattle breeders continued to participate in the production testing and management practices were discussed and viewed in both the winter and summer meetings.

Improvement in the quality of fruit marketed continued as a result of better production and management practices. Orchardmen participated in winter and summer meetings and received spray information service and other assistance.

Berry producers participated in winter and summer meetings as well as a co-operative marketing activity.

OVER HALF of the farms in the county have adopted conservation practices in co-operation with the soil conservation service. Contour strip cropping and soil and water management practices are being followed on the majority. The number of farm ponds is increasing.

Dairy, sheep, swine and poultry producers attended various meetings to obtain the latest information on feeding, management and marketing. A dipping service for control of sheep insects was provided sheepmen as in former years.

A poultry industries activity leading poultry producers and allied industry representatives meet each month.

An organized group exists in the county for each agricultural commodity produced in Ohio except sugar beets, tobacco and grapes.

QUALITY potatoes were produced by county growers during the year and with the use of test plots, search continues for new varieties and improved methods of insect, disease and weed control.

Dairymen studied methods of housing and managing dairy cattle on the barn tour and at various meetings. Many dairymen obtained plans from the co-operative Extension Service for buildings and equipment.

Homemakers learned the art and techniques of using herbs and spices in cooking and township women attended meetings and demonstrations and received instructions from trained leaders on meal planning with frozen foods. Four schools were held on reupholstering furniture.

Fundamentals of proper table appointments and how to be a gracious hostess were also presented with information and reference material provided by the extension service, Myers said.

OVER 1,700 women participated in the annual Christmas-at-Home Tea for information and ideas concerning home made Christmas gifts and decoration tips.

The co-operative Extension Service is organized as an off-campus branch of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics of Ohio State University, with committees of lay leaders planning all phases of the program in the county. The purpose of the organization is educational in nature, in that it is to furnish information available from the college and the Agricultural Experiment Station.

Parking Tags Cost Man $37

An East Liverpool man paid a $30 fine and $7.50 costs today in Municipal Court when he pleaded guilty before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge he ignored 21 old parking tickets.

Thomas E. Shaw, 225 W. 7th St., was haled before the judge on a "Meter Maid" affidavit alleging specifically that he failed to pay the penalty for a ticket issued Aug. 13 for over-time at an E. 4th St. meter.

Attached to the affidavit were 20 more tickets which he allegedly ignored.

Quered by the court, Shaw said "I was living at the YMCA at the time and I had no place to park my car. I got a ticket every day!"

"It would have been cheaper for you to have rented a space on a private lot," the judge told the defendant.

In two more traffic cases, a defendant was fined and another forfeited.

Gerald R. Miller of Hammondsville was fined $5 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge he crashed a traffic light at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. Wednesday at 6:45 p. m.

Robert Lee Rosier of Fairmont forfeited $17.50 on a State Highway Patrol charge of driving 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone Wednesday at 10 p. m. on Route 30.

Woman Hurt Against Auto In Chester

A 78-year-old Pughtown area woman as in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered when she walked against the side of a moving car in Chester Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Pearl Foreman of Scott Ln. near Pughtown suffered a fractured right knee and bruises and abrasions of the leg, body and arm.

Police Chief Clarence Lenens said Mrs. Foreman walked into the eastbound auto operated by Hubert Miller, 21, of Aliquippa.

She had gotten out of a car operated by her daughter, Mrs. Doris Wilkinson, of Weirton and started across Carolina Ave. near 5th St. toward the north side of the street.

Witnesses said she walked between two stopped vehicles in the westbound lane and into the path of Miller's car. Miller said he saw her and swerved to avoid hitting her, and she stepped against the left side of his sedan.

She was taken first to a physician, then to the hospital. The mishap was timed at 2:45 p. m.

Silvers Switches To Supermarket

Shortly after the New Year, in a TV studio on Manhattan's West Side, "The Patty Duke Show" sloped off into the dank and chilly evening via one portico as "The New Phil Silvers Show" entered via another.

For that one evening, the Lane family's living quarters were trundled aside and a supermarket squeezed into one small corner. Here, Mr. Phil Silvers, playing Harry Grafton, was to encounter Mr. Allen Funt, playing Allen Funt, and jump to the totally incorrect conclusion that Funt's groceries are concealing a microphone and that he (Silvers) is on "Candid Camera."

Alan Gill

THE RESULTS of the encounter will show up on your TV screen Saturday night, Feb. 8 (9:30, Channel 8).

The Silvers series, by that time, could well be called "The NEW New Phil Silvers Show," since a few radical changes will be in.

A week earlier, Grafton will get out of the factory in which he has been so confined and go home to a "family," made up of Grafton's widowed sister (Elena Verdugo, whom you may remember from "Meet Millie") and her two children (Sandy Descher, 18, and Ronnie Dapo, 10).

Silvers also has invited a new trouble shooter on the scene—writer-director Al Lewis.

THE ALARM BELL which signaled these changes has been clanging since the first Nielsen reports were published this season. The show's ratings from the start have been — well, stingy may be the word.

Thus the expedition to New York, Funt being too embroiled in his new show, "Tell It to the Camera," to make the jaunt to Hollywood.

And because a few wassailing neighbors held me at home the evening of the Silvers-Funt imbroglio, I dispatched a sleuth of my acquaintance, Bledsoe (Binky) Pinkerton, to the premises to jot a few impressions in his pocket dossier.

THE TRANSCRIPT of "Binky's" notes follows:

"Arrived after hearty dinner, receipt for which is enclosed, at the clamorous West Side studio. Great bustle of carpenters and electricians. Shouts, Hammerings.

"Peered over prop man's shoulder as he carefully mislabeled brand-name merchandise on supermarket shelves. Found Silvers himself standing in dressing room, slapping script against his knee and muttering to the eaves.

"Threw caution to the winds and inquired about his ratings.

"He said he's been greeted in New York with news that Nielsen had just given the series its first over-30 share-of-audience — a jump of 6 points over previous report.

"IRONIC," isn't it?" he said drumming fingers on his dome. "Here we're getting away from the factory and one of our final episodes there gets a good rating.

"I don't believe in the things, of course. Nobody in Hollywood does. Show me a man who believes in Nielsen and I'll show you a man with a 40 per cent share.

"We sit around for hours, talking about how unrealistic, inaccurate and unnecessary ratings are. Then somebody yells, 'Hey, the new Nielsen book is out,' and we all jump frantically to get our hands on it."

"ASKED HIM another bullish question: Did he deserve the bum ratings?

"Sure," he admitted. "I was wrong and the critics were right. When I was a con artist in the Army as Bilko, people were on my side, because I was fighting The System. I was the underdog. But in a factory situation, the same shenanigans made me — no, not the hero. The GOAT. So we're making changes.

"Adding Elena Verdugo and the kids: that's one. Grabbing real pros like Al Lewis, who helped create 'Our Miss Brooks': that's another. I've got a lot of money tied up in this show, sure, but now it's as much a question of pride as it is economics. I don't like to lose.

"And since I've got to take the rap for the series' slow start, it's up to me to get this thing going."

"Al Lewis, a round, merry little fellow easy of manner, interrupted to say, 'We're set up, Phil, in the supermarket.'"

"Atta boy," said the scamp, and they were off and running."

Henderson Is Speaker For Stanton Boosters

HAMMONDSVILLE — School Supt. C. P. Henderson, former Irondale coach, outlined his duties as athletic director when the Stanton Local Athletic Boosters Club met Tuesday night in the school.

Joe Ulrich, president, presided and members were assigned to work the concession stand for the next three home basketball games, beginning Friday night with Southern Local.

Membership tickets will be on sale in the school lobby at each home game.

Next meeting will be Feb. 11.

Award Given Newell Pack

A honor banner was presented Newell Cub Scout Pack 10 for recruiting 14 new members at a meeting Tuesday night in the Jefferson School.

Each youngster who enrolled a new member was presented a roundup patch.

Art DeLong, cubmaster, announced the annual Blue and Gold dinner will be held Feb. 29 at 6 p. m. at the fire hall.

The cubs were instructed to wear their uniforms to school during observance of National Boy Scout Week Feb. 7-13, and also to church on Feb. 9.

Recipients of awards were Rodney Nally, Terry Tice, Leonard Bywater, Bill McCall, and Scott Carnahan.

Posters were made for marking "Family Alert Month," and the winners in a contest were Ricky Keller and David Williams.

Gene Lytton, member of the Newell volunteer fire department, spoke on "Fire Hazards and Prevention. Den 4 won the attendance banner.

Lloyd Nalley was named assistant cubmaster.

Industry Music Boosters Shown Uniform Cloth

Material for uniforms was displayed at a meeting of the Western Beaver Music Boosters Monday night in the high school in Industry.

Members of the administration and the Executive Board will make the final decision on a choice of band uniforms.

A get-acquainted dance will be sponsored by the group Saturday night in the school. Choral and instrumental students will provide entertainment. Cards will follow dancing. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

A committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. John Verzella will take calls from residents desiring to aid the unit as an associate member. The chairman may be contacted at 774-6017. Committee members are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thorne, 643-1066; Mr. and Mrs. Chris Aeschbacher, 634-2334; Mr. and Mrs. George Myers, 643-2277 and Mr. and Mrs. Ray V. Queen, 774-7568.

The talent show March 6-7 will be under the direction of Leo Curto, music supervisor, and students desiring to enter may contact Curto or Principal Mike Arbutina.

Ed Stephens, president, presided.

New Philly, McKinley 'Streak' Into City This Weekend

Quakers Have Won Last 7

The stiffest back-to-back test in several seasons faces the East Liverpool Potters this weekend at Memorial Auditorium.

It will be anything but a picnic for Coach Jim Harris and his team, who may be feeling like they slipped out of the frying pan and into the fire by the time Saturday night arrives.

The basketball menu this week shows New Philadelphia, a team on a seven-game winning streak, appearing Friday night, followed to town Saturday by unbeaten Canton McKinley, rated the No. 1 schoolboy power in Ohio by the Associated Press poll.

McKinley owns a 12-game winning streak and this past Tuesday was voted to the top spot in Ohio for the second straight week.

Coach Leo Benjamin of New Philly will bring one of the better teams from that city to the MA planks Friday.

The Quakers will floor an all-veteran outfit loaded with plenty of height and showing a well-balanced scoring attack.

After winning its first start over Cambridge, 82-65, the Quakers took a little dip and lost the next two contests to Coshocton, 65-54, and Mansfield Malabra, 63-58.

The Quakers came out of their brief spin in championship fashion and rolled to seven straight victories.

An indication that this is a club that improves as it goes along is shown by the fact that New Philly avenged the loss to Coshocton by defeating the same club a month later, 69-60.

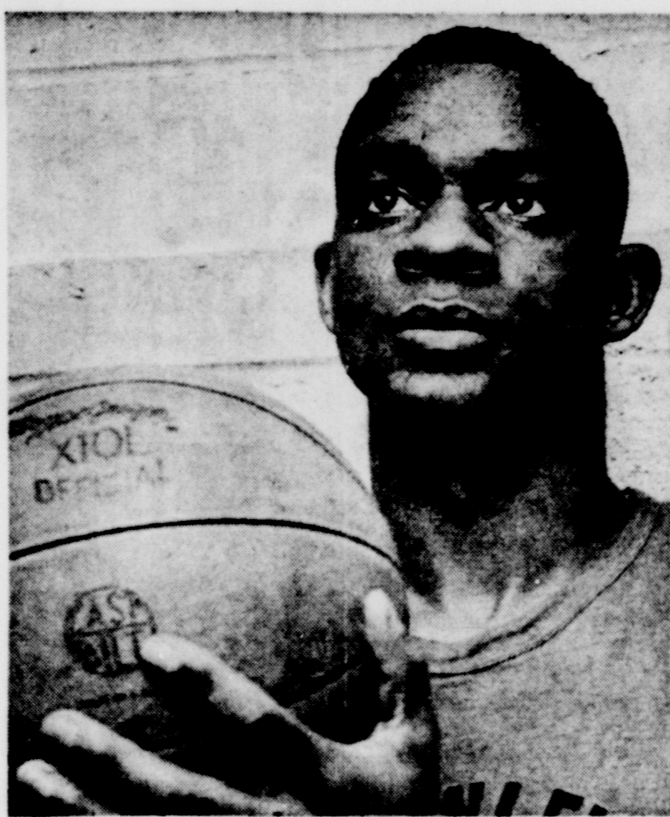

The victory string started with Alliance, 73-39, followed by Mansfield Madison, 66-47, Dover 79-56, Uhrichsville, 63-60, Coshocton, 69-60, North Canton 68-45 and Wooster 77-70.

All five starters for New Philly are averaging in the double figures to give the team over-all balance.

At center will be Eric Gribble, a 6-4 senior who has scored 134 points, Mike Beitzel, tallest player on the squad at 6-5, is the team's leading scorer with 139 points.

The other forward is Bob Celce, 6-1 senior who has scored 101 points, Mark Francis, 5-9 junior with 110 points will be at on guard, with Tom Struchen, 6-foot sophomore who has scored 100 points, at the other.

Jan Falt, a 6-1 junior, is the sixth man for the Quakers. He has 71 markers and is expected to see considerable action. Dwayne Lipkins, 6-2 senior, will lead the tall Canton McKinley Bulldogs to town Saturday night.

Lipkins has poured in 194 points in 12 games for the Canton five, which sports superior height and a balanced scoring punch.

Roy (Bopeep) Jackson, who hits 6-7, will be in the pivot spot for Coach Bob Rupert's squad. Jackson has scored 117 points. Another starter is 6-5 Chester Stewart, who has seen action in eight games.

Stewart was suspended from the squad for four games for disciplinary reasons, but was reinstated last week.

Ray Flanigan, standing 6-3, tied 114 points.

Arnie Fontest, a 6-foot guard with 111 markers, rounds out the starting lineup.

Probably seeing a lot of action for the Bulldogs will be Nick Roman, a junior who has been looking good in recent games. He stands 6-3 and has 53 points to his credit. Roman had been ill the first part of the season.

Rupert's team has had an easy time with most of its opponents, but was pressed by Massillon before winning 58-57 and last Saturday nipped Kent Roosevelt, 49-47.

Other victories have been over Cleveland Glenville 70-43, Youngstown East 82-34, Alliance 103-33, Niles 50-30, Cuyahoga Falls 50-34, Linden McKinley 75-45, Warren 65-38, is another starter and has tal-Canton Lincoln 51-41, Akron St. Vincent 48-37 and Canton South 64-56.

Harris isn't planning a change in the starting lineup for the Potters this weekend but will be hoping for a better shooting performance than was turned in last week at Steubenville Central.

The Potters were lucky to win that one, shooting a meager 25 per cent.

East Liverpool will be taking a 4-6 record into the contest.

With 10 games under the Potters belts, Bob Forzano is the leading scorer with 138 points for a 13-point average. Frank McComas is next with 114. Randy Stover, Bill Hall and Bob Maltreich will round out the starting lineup for the weekend tilts.

Youngstown Rolls To 13th Straight

By The Associated Press
No. 13, for a time Wednesday night, appeared to have its traditional jinx on Youngstown's basketball Penguins, but they rallied in the closing minutes to overtake Steubenville and claim a 64-61 victory.

It was the unbeaten Penguins' 13th victory of the season, and it tied the school's longest victory skein chalked up by the 1957 team.

A determined Steubenville squad battled down to the wire before Youngstown went ahead to stay at 61-59 on substitute Larry Seneta's layup. Red Jones led the winners with 19 points while Gary Vogel had 20 for the Barons.

Kent State's Golden Flashes found the going rugged at Pittsburgh where the Panthers stormed to an 84-63 victory. Pitt boosted its lead to as much as 20 points in the second half. Dave Sauer led the romp with 20 points while Dan Norris with 19 was high for the Flashes.

Fenn also clashed with a Pennsylvania team but fared better. The Foxes, with the help of a 31-point effort by Weldon Kyle, raced to an 83-63 victory over Allegheny at Meadville, Pa.

One other game was played involving an Ohio college team. Denison defeated Wilmington 81-76 in a contest in which four starters for each team were ousted on personal fouls. Wilmington made 22 of 34 free throws.

76ers' Coach In Dispute With Two Of His Players

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers, who have been having trouble of late beating National Basketball Association opposition, now are scrapping among themselves.

Coach Dolph Schayes was involved in disputes with two of his players Wednesday night as Philadelphia dropped a 124-116 decision to the Baltimore Bullets for their fifth loss in a row.

In other action, Cincinnati handed Boston its worst defeat of the season 109-92 and Los Angeles whipped Detroit 110-101.

When Dave Gambee was removed from the Philadelphia-Baltimore game in the second quarter, he showed his displeasure by actions and words. Schayes retaliated by ordering Gambee to the dressing room for the remainder of the game.

In the fourth quarter, Lee Shaffer cursed both Schayes and his replacement Ben Warley when he was ordered to the bench. Shaffer, who earlier was charged with a technical foul for cursing, did not return until the contest almost was over.

For the night, Gambee played seven minutes and Shaffer 13.

Asked after the game to comment on the Gambee incident, Schayes said, "It's nothing I'd care to talk about. He left because he didn't feel well."

Asked if the players would be fined, the Philadelphia coach said, "Yes, a million dollars."

Cincinnati continued to plague the Celtics with its fifth victory in nine games between the teams. Oscar Robertson's 38 points paced the second-place Royals as they cut Boston's Eastern Division lead to 2½ games.

Cincinnati took the lead 10-9 in the first quarter and stayed in front the rest of the way. The biggest margin was 20 points.

Jerry West scored 42 points in leading Los Angeles over Detroit. The Lakers, who moved two games in front in the Western Division, broke open the game in the first six minutes of the second quarter, outscoring the Pistons 18-4. Bailey Howell led Detroit with 23 points.

Appling, Ruffing Seen Next For Hall Of Fame

BOSTON (AP) — The door of that handsome, red brick Colonial building at Cooperstown, N.Y.—baseball's Hall of Fame—still was open today.

And shortstop Luke Appling and pitcher Charley (Red) Ruffing will lead 30 former big leaguers in an unprecedented second knock.

Balloting by baseball writers announced Wednesday showed none of the 59 old-time players nominated received the necessary 75 per cent of the votes cast.

Appling, who played 20 seasons for the Chicago White Sox between 1930 and 1950, received 142 votes, nine short of the 151 needed.

Right-hander Ruffing, who won 20 games or more four straight years while with the New York Yankees, polled 141.

But they and 28 others will get another chance.

The Baseball Writers Association of America instituted a change in 1962, the last time the biennial voting was conducted, authorizing a second ballot in the event no candidate received the needed three-quarters vote.

A second ballot was not needed two years ago because Bob Feller and Jackie Robinson were elected to Cooperstown on the first ballot.

Cunningham Wins Back Starting Berth At Cincy

CINCINNATI (Special)—Ken Cunningham, the former high school star from East Liverpool, has finished his bench ride at the University of Cincinnati.

A pair of flashy sophomores had wrapped the starting guard berths for most of the first half of the season. But Kenny showed some uncanny outside shooting as a sub late in the loss to Oregon State and caused Coach Ed Jucker to do a recheck.

"DESIRE, hustle, determination—these are the words that describe Cunningham," says Jucker. In practice, he had been the mainstay of the famed Red-shirt (Cincy's No. 2 team) and, according to "Juck", was a big factor in the success of the starting Bearcats.

But it now appears that Cunningham has locked himself into the top unit. His quick hands led to three key steals in the final minutes of a come-from-behind win over St. Louis.

Army Wins 10th; Eyes Top Record

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Army probably isn't in the class of UCLA and Michigan, the top-ranked teams in The Associated Press poll, but the Cadets have come up with their best basketball team in 20 years.

Not since a 27-game winning streak two decades ago have the Cadets looked ahead with such confidence to their traditional game with Navy, Feb. 29.

The Black Knights scored their 10th victory in 12 games Wednesday by outlasting Hofstra 64-59 at West Point.

Hofstra earlier had defeated Navy and went into the Army game with a nine-game winning streak, but the Flying Dutchmen couldn't overcome the Cadets despite Steve Nisen's 34 points.

One of Nisen's baskets tied the score at 57-57, but Army went ahead to stay on goals by Joe Kosciusko of Grafton, Mass. and Bill Helkie, of South Bend, Ind.

There were only a few other major games on the schedule as mid-year exams continued to keep college activity to a minimum.

Seventh-ranked Villanova, the only team in the Top Ten to see action, romped against West Chester, Pa. State, 78-61.

Jim Stone and John Thompson combined for 52 points as Providence staged off a late Canisius rally to beat the Grifins 77-74. In other games Virginia Tech nipped East Carolina 72-68 and Pitt downed Kent State 84-63.

'Stop Newsome' Is Cry Around Ohio U. Camp

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Writer

"Stop Newsome" is the cry on the Athens campus this week as Ohio University prepares to tangle with Western Michigan in an important Mid-American Conference basketball game Saturday.

The Bobcats, 4-1 in the rugged loop, can solidify their hold on first place with a victory over the second-place Broncos.

It's the top game of the week in the seven-member league in a schedule curtailed by examinations. The only other game on the card finds Kent State visiting Miami in a Saturday afternoon skirmish.

Newsome, of course, is Manny Newsome, the nation's No. 1 point-maker who has engineered the Broncos to a challenging position with a 3-1 record.

Both teams are riding four-game winning streaks, although the Bobcats have a better overall mark with 11-3 compared to Western Michigan's 7-7.

Ohio Coach Jim Snyder looks at it this way:

"We have to beat Western Saturday to stay alive. In fact, we dare not lose another conference game at home."

"There are no patsies in this league. Even Bowling Green and fast-improving Kent State have to be reckoned with."

In a bout earlier this month, Western outlasted the Bobcats 95-93 as a late Ohio surge fell short. Newsome hit for 39 points in that fray.

The Bobcats have no individual to counter Newsome's point-production antics. They pin their hopes on a balanced scoring attack.

Don Hilt, Mike Haley and Jerry Jackson are the big guns in Ohio's offense and the Bobcats also boast the best rebounding in the loop with 47.8 per game.

Miami, still in contention with 4-2, is expected to pad its record at the expense of Kent. The Redskins fell from first to third place last week after two straight reversals.

Secret Session Suspected Between Finley, AL Head

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles O. Finley isn't talking.

And that is the big news in baseball circles.

The surprise development came Wednesday when Finley, embattled owner of the Kansas City Athletics, and American League President Joe Cronin were found registered in the same New York hotel. If they met, it was a deep, dark secret.

Finley made himself available briefly and had only two words to say:

"No comment."

That was two words more than anyone could get out of Cronin.

His hotel phone didn't answer. And a search of the hotel failed to reveal any traces of the stocky AL prey.

In Boston, a league spokesman was more informative. He said Cronin was in New York to talk over legal matters. He didn't say with whom. He did say it wasn't with Finley.

In Kansas City, meanwhile, it was learned that Finley hadn't been doing any talking to city officials either. Under a league ruling, Finley was denied permission to move the A's to Louisville and has until Feb. 1 to negotiate a lease with the city or face possible expulsion from the American League.

Despite all that uncertainty, the A's home office managed to conduct some business. They are working on the 1964 roster, and signed pitcher Diego Segui and infielder George Williams. They were the first A's signed.

Presumably, they signed Kansas City contracts.

The New York Yankees were the busiest club in the player market, signing infielders Pedro Gonzalez and Mike Hegan and pitchers Jack Cullen and George Schoenmaker. The Los Angeles Angels received contracts from pitchers Don Lee, Fred Newman and Aubrey Gatewood.

Pitchers Cal Koonce and Jack Warner and outfielder Don Landrum signed with the Chicago Cubs, pitchers Tracy Stallard and Bill Wakefield with the New York Mets, second baseman Don Blasingame with the Washington Senators and pitcher Wade Blasingame with the Milwaukee Braves.

Rhodes Sets Fast Pace At Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes and several other Ohio officials maintained a fast pace Wednesday in the nation's capital.

Rhodes said the main purpose of the two-day visit was to meet with Ohio's congressional delegation and to talk with the lawmakers about creating more jobs in the state.

But besides a non-political luncheon with the congressmen, Rhodes also held a news conference and met with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Anthony Celebrezze, among other things. He invited the cabinet members to attend the June 6-10 Governors Conference in Cleveland, and both accepted.

Questions put to Rhodes at his news conference were mostly about Ohio politics, and most drew "no comment." The governor said, "We did not come here to solve the political situation."

Sens. Stephen M. Young and Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, and all six Ohio Democratic House members attended Wednesday's luncheon.

Salineville Meeting

Set On Little League

SALINEVILLE — A meeting for adults interested in aiding the Little League program will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 at the Salineville School cafeteria.

Karl Lindner, president of Ruritan Club, which sponsors the baseball program for boys, said parental support is needed for the league this summer.

"More than lip service is needed to organize the program and supervise during the summer months. Parents of the boys should provide the necessary leadership," he said.

Presbytery's Posts Filled

The Rev. M. Rudolph Miller of East Liverpool and the Rev. James McCollam of Yellow Creek were elected chairmen at the meeting of the Steubenville Presbytery Tuesday at the First Presbyterian Church at Carrollton. The Rev. David McAlmont was host pastor.

Rev. Miller, minister of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church, was named chairman of the ecclesiastical responsibilities committee, and Rev. McCollam, pastor of the Yellow Creek and Oak Ridge charges, chairman of national missions.

The Rev. Gene Toot, associate minister of the Trinity church, new moderator, conducted his first meeting. The Rev. Mark Allen of Toronto, retiring moderator, conducted the annual Communion service during the forenoon session.

The group renominated the Rev. George Jenkins of Carrollton as General Presbyter for another three years. It will be acted on by the Synod of Ohio in June.

Next meeting will be March 10 at the Island United Presbyterian Church near Toronto, of which the Rev. Edward Sensenbrenner is pastor.

Beaver Dog Owners

Reminded On License

Floree J. Aquino, Beaver County treasurer, reminded county residents that dog licenses may be purchased from his office by mail, since the office personnel is not conducting a sale in the various subdivisions during February.

With an increase in the license fees this year, the cost will be $1.25 for a male or spayed dog and $2.25 for a female. This includes a 5-cent fee for return postage.

License application should include name and address of the owner, breed of dog, sex, age and color, with the proper fee enclosed.

The check or money order should be made payable to Floree J. Aquino, treasurer, and mailed to the treasurer's office, Courthouse, Beaver, Pa.

Man Accused In Fatal Shooting Ruled Insane

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) —

The man accused in the fatal shooting of a Mount Vernon News advertising salesman Richard Merrin last Oct. 30 has been ruled insane and sent to Lima State Hospital.

Orville Perkey, 33, was ordered confined by Common Pleas Court Judge Jay S. McDevitt Wednesday after testimony by two psychiatrists. Perkey will stand trial if he is ruled sane at some future time, officials said.

1934 Class Reunion Planned For June 13

Tentative plans were made for a reunion of the East Liverpool High School Class of 1934 at the meeting Tuesday night with Mrs. Mary Musuraca of St. Clair Ave.

An informal dinner dance will be held June 13 at the Willows in Industry. Letters were mailed to all members of the class whose addresses were available.

Mrs. Musuraca, chairman, was assisted with arrangements by Mrs. Geraldine Reed, Mrs. Wilma Mautz and Don Skidmore.

Methodist Youths To Attend Area Institute In Columbiana

A delegation of young people from area Methodist Churches will attend the Mid-Winter Institute of the MYF of the Steubenville District Friday and Saturday at the Columbiana church. The Rev. John F. Stilts, pastor of the Orchard Grove church is dean.

Attending from the First church will be Janice Edgell, Carla Schneider, Charlotte Clark, Juanita Daniels, Lynn First church and the Rev. Irwin Jennings of Calvary church.

along with Rev. Stilts, will attend. Registration will be conducted Friday at 5 p. m., followed with dinner at 6 and an inspirational address on the theme, "The Peculiar Ones."

Members will then be divided into groups for discussions on the attitudes and conduct of Christian young people in the world today. Ministers and laymen of the district will lead the discussions.

The session will resume Saturday morning and adjourn at noon.

Glenmoor Legion Receives Award

A national American Legion award for distinguished service was presented to the Glenmoor American Legion Post at a meeting Tuesday night at the post home.

Bert Keck, Columbiana County Council commander, made the presentation.

William Fletcher, commander, reported on the post team at the 10th District bowling tournament and the post's entertaining the County Bowling League Sunday.

James Cregar, county first vice commander, inspected the post and commended them on the membership achievement.

Members will be obligated at a dinner Feb. 18 at which movies will be screened. Next meeting will be Feb. 4.

Posts In County Auto Club Filled

Mark Klingensmith of Columbiana was re-elected president of the Columbiana County Motor Club at a meeting of officers Wednesday night at Salem.

Also returned were J. E. Mackall of East Liverpool and S. A. Hart of Salineville, vice presidents, and Atty. Lynn Riddle of Lisbon, secretary-treasurer.

Managers are H. J. English of East Liverpool and A. P. Morris of Salem.

Membership in 1963 totaled 10,790.

West Firemen Given Flag By Legion Post

John Ruhe of American Legion Post 374 presented a new 50-star flag to the Liverpool Township West volunteer fire department at a meeting Wednesday night at the LaCroft station.

Fifteen attended. Milton Kountz, president, presided. Fire Chief Robert Badger said a test will be given all second class firemen. The date will be announced.

A training session will be held next Wednesday at 7:30. Next regular business meeting will be Feb. 2.

ELKTON AUCTION, ELKTON, OHIO
MARKET REPORT JAN. 18.

Due to the bad weather, we received a light run of stock but the prices were stronger on all types of cattle and hogs. Calves were just sky high with a top of 36c to 37c.

Hogs were stronger with a top of $16.50 to $16.90. Sows sold for $12 to $14.40. Dairy cows were very much in demand. Top lambs sold for $18.50 to $20.00. Feeder steers and heifers sold very good and the demand was very strong.

Poultry steady, and eggs were strong —
Hides were stronger.

Ponies and colts were steady to strong with full age ponies stronger.

We would appreciate handling your livestock. We have good truck service to handle your stock, just call Lisbon HA 4-5049.

Junior Editors Quiz on

QUESTION: What are perfumes made from?

ANSWER: As little Cathy sniffs new perfume, she thinks of it as just one delightful odor. Actually, however, most perfumes are blends of many odor-producing materials, some of the most important of which we show surrounding Cathy like a wreath. Perfume experts take extracts from these and other sources and carefully mix them together, producing favorite fragrances, or originating new ones.

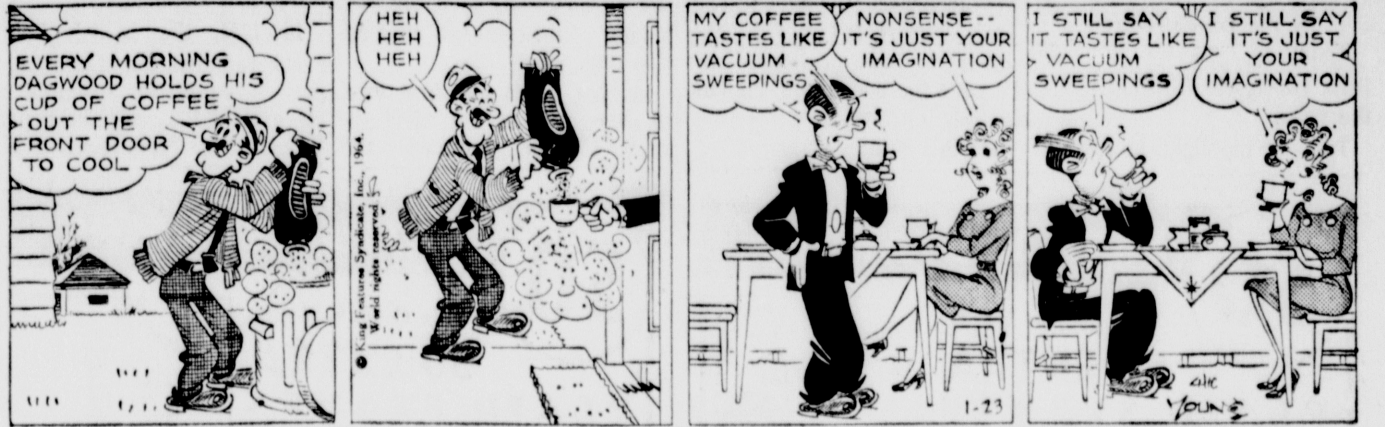

The fragrance in plants comes from minute sacs which store "essential oils" bearing the fragrance. These oils can be extracted from the flower blossoms themselves. Often petals are spread over layers of fat on glass plates; the fragrant oils are absorbed by the fats and then can be removed and used in making perfume. Leaves, stems and bark of certain plants also give fragrant oils, as do certain woods such as sandalwood.

It's hard to believe that coal would give perfume, but chemicals from coal tar, a product of coal, can be used in making inexpensive synthetic perfumes. "Castor" from the beaver, "civet" from the civet cat, "musk" from the musk deer and "ambergris" from the sperm whale are often used to strengthen other odors and make them more lasting.

FOR YOU TO DO: Go outside and see how many attractive odors you can locate. There are quite a few, even in winter. Many evergreens, for example, have a most delightful spicy smell.

Diane Redmond of Wausau, Wis., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you too may win a set.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Thursday, Jan. 23, 1964. There are 343 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1730, Bishop George Berkeley bought a farm near Newport, R.I., for use as a site for an Indian college. Later he gave the books and the land to Yale University.
On this date:

In 1845, Congress designated the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November as election day.
In 1909, radio was first used to save lives at sea when the ship, Florida, rammed and sank the vessel, Republic, near Nantucket Lightship.

In 1946, the British Labor party rejected the Communist party's request for affiliation on the ground that the Labor party's aim was fundamentally different from that of the Communist party.

Ten year ago — Peru agreed to negotiate directly with Colombia for settlement of a case involving a Peruvian radical leader who was besieged by Peruvian authorities for more than five years in the Colombian Embassy in Lima.

Five years ago — Mexico announced severance of diplomatic relations with neighboring Guatemala after planes of the Guatemalan air force strafed Mexican fishing boats.

One year ago — the United States and Algeria reached agreement on terms of new U.S. economic assistance.
